Bauer's Bill To Floor, 6-2

. . . WITH DUIS REPEAL

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

A flat-rate, broad-based state income tax bill was rushed to the floor of the Legislature Monday along with a surprise proposal to repeal the Duis Amendment to the state constitution and allocate broadened tax base revenue.

The Revenue Committee handed 6-2 approval to LB797, Sen. Hal Bauer's income tax proposal, subject to committee amendments which may be adopted later this week.

Accompanying the bill of the floor was an amended version of LB79, proposing a constitutional amendment to provide that revenue from a state income or sales tax be distributed 50% for state aid to school districts, 30% to the state, and 10% each to cities and counties based on the ratio of their total property valuation.

The amendment would also repeal the Duis proviso, which automatically would take the state out of the property tax field once a broadened tax base law was enacted.

Could Remain

Thus, if the amendment is submitted to the voters in 1966 and approved, the state could remain in the property tax field if it adopted a sales or income tax.

The proposal was presented by Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud in the form of an amendment to LB79, although Bowen suggested that revenue be allocated 50% to school districts with the remainder divided equally among cities, counties and the state.

In its present form, LB79 would also seek voter approval for an amendment which would permit the Legislature to adopt a state income tax based upon changing U.S. income tax laws.

As originally introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, the bill sought a vote only on the proposition of tying an income tax to federal statutes.

Endorsement

Once amended, the bill won 8-0 committee endorsement.

Held for later consideration was LB141, Carpenter's proposal to apply a four percent state income tax against the amount of federal income tax paid by individuals and corporations.

Action on the three bills followed a lengthy public hearing which produced 39 witnesses, and a surprising show of support for Bauer's bill.

Major agricultural and educational organizations headed the list of proponents, but the bill also attracted an unexpected endorsement in principle from the Associated Industries of Nebraska and the State Chamber of Commerce.

Among agricultural supporters were the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, the Farmers Union, the State Grange, the Nebraska Stockgrowers Association and the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Assn.

Educational backing came from the Nebraska State Education Association, the Nebraska Council of Parents and Teachers, and the Nebraska State School Boards Association.

13 Opponents

Among 13 opponents were spokesmen for the Association of Nebraska Taxpayers, the National Farmers Organization and the Railroad Shop Crafts.

Bauer told the committee LB797 is so broad-based that it would have the impact of both a state sales and income tax. It would, he said, "emphasize ability to pay, instead of ownership of property."

Based on 1964 state expenditures, Lincoln attorney, Clayton Yeutter informed the lawmakers, the bill would have produced a 1.77% state income tax yielding $43.5 million. The rate is flexible, depending upon the budget demands.

Costs of administration would be about one-tenth of one per cent of the tax take, Yeutter said.

Would Add Balance

Proponents told the committee that an income tax would help balance the tax burden, meet the state's growing needs for additional revenue, and provide a means for producing state aid to public schools.

Bowen said his proposal would bring "relief at the local level" which would not be available under LB797.

Opponents of Bauer's bill argued that it would not provide real tax relief, that it would open the door to increased spending, and that its flat-rate features are regressive.

"Prudent spending and sound budgeting is the only answer to taxation," Wray Scott of Omaha declared.

Vote Asked

"You should table all broadened tax base bills, and submit the Bowen amendment to the people for a vote," Dr. Allen Burkhardt of Norfolk declared.

Both Scott and Burkhardt represent the Association of Nebraska Taxpayers.

A number of opponents said they would support the Bowen amendment.

President Asks New Anticrime Weapons

Washington (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress Monday to give the government new weapons for a war on crime—and ban the kind of mail order firearms sales that put a rifle in the hands of Lee Harvey Oswald, assassin of President John F. Kennedy.

Johnson called for tighter control over drugs, new efforts to rehabilitate narcotic addicts, federal aid to help train policemen, and a stepped-up drive against organized crime.

'It Won't Wait'

"Crime will not wait while we pull it up by the roots," Johnson said. "We must arrest and reverse the trend toward lawlessness. . . .

"I believe the way to do so is to give new recognition to the fact that crime is a national problem—and to intensify our crime prevention and crime fighting at all levels of government," the President said in a message to Congress.

At the same time, Johnson ordered a long-range inquiry into the causes of crime and new methods of combatting lawlessness.

Johnson said crime in the streets is the most direct concern of the average American. "Robberies, muggings, housebreakings are the primary law enforcement responsibility of state and local government," he said.

But when a criminal crosses a state line, Johnson added, the federal government can step in.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan saw in the Johnson message indications of "more centralized government and more federal control over our cities and states."

Johnson said in his message the recognition that crime is a national problem "does not carry with it any threat to the basic prerogatives of state and local governments.

"It means, rather, that the federal government will henceforth take a more meaningful role in meeting the whole spectrum of problems posed by crime," he said.

The President said narcotics and firearms are two factors in the mounting rate of violent crime, and proposed measures to deal with both.

"Lee Oswald sent for and received a rifle through the United States mail," he said. "I believe that the people of the United States have learned, through the recent tragic loss of President Kennedy, the need for strengthened control."

Johnson proposed a ban on interstate shipments of firearms except among importers, manufacturers and dealers licensed by the treasury department.

"Mail order sales to individuals thus would stop," he said.

Illegal Sales

Johnson asked for congressional action to halt the illegal sale of sedative and stimulant drugs, blaming their misuse for "senseless killings, robberies and auto accidents . . ."

Johnson's recommendations on narcotics offenses emphasized efforts to rehabilitate addicts.

He said the Justice Department soon will send Congress a civil commitment statute. Under it, if the court and the prosecutor concurred, a narcotics user could avoid prosecution and receive treatment instead of imprisonment.

The President also suggested an easing of the laws that rule out parole and set mandatory minimum sentences of 5 to 15 years for narcotics peddlers.

Federal Police Aid

To help bolster local law enforcement, Johnson proposed a federal aid measure offering assistance to state, local and private groups working to improve and strengthen crime control programs.

Administration officials said up to $10 million will be sought for that program.

Johnson said the proposal would bolster present training programs and help support efforts to develop new training methods for local police.

Lincoln Pickets March

Concern about the Selma-to-Montgomery (Ala.) right-to-vote march sparked an all-night picket-demonstration outside the downtown Post Office Monday night.

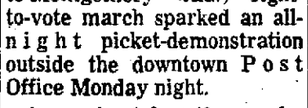

Approximately 40 people, mostly from the University of Nebraska and Nebraska Wesleyan University, took turns keeping the vigil which began at 5 p.m. Monday and ended at dawn Tuesday.

Included in the group were college professors, Lincoln ministers, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People members and Friends of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

The demonstration was held outside the Post Office because it is a federal building, a spokesman for the group said.

Homemade signs carried by the picketers said, "What Happens in Selma Is Your Responsibility" and "Freedom, Equality and Justice."

SNCC representatives called campuses all over the nation Monday, to organize demonstrations after the Sunday marchers in Selma were forcefully stopped.

LINCOLN: Partly cloudy through Tuesday night. High near 40.

EAST AND CENTRAL NEBRASKA: Colder in northeast, partly cloudy through Tuesday night with occasional light snow over the area by evening. High 30s northeast, 40-45 south central.

U.S. Religious Leaders Called To Join Montgomery March

Selma, Ala. (AP)—Negro leaders cautioned their followers against hate and panic Monday as they made ready for another right-to-vote march to Montgomery, the Alabama capital.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. prepared to return to lead the demonstration. He said in Atlanta that he had called for religious leaders from throughout the nation to join the march planned for Tuesday.

Attorneys for civil rights leaders headed for federal court seeking an injunction to prevent club-swinging state troopers from halting the procession as they did in Sunday's bloody rout.

Vows To Lead

King missed the first march. He promised, however, to lead the hiking Negroes Tuesday in what one of his aides, the Rev. Andrew Young, described as a "peaceful petition to Gov. (George C.) Wallace for the right to vote and to protest police brutality."

Before leaving Atlanta Monday, King said he had not expected the forceful dispersal of Sunday's attempted march.

Q. Was the violence by police officers what you expected?

A. No. I expected arrests. I was very shocked at the violence.

Q: Is violence what your nonviolent movement wants?

A: No. We do not want violence. We do not seek to precipitate violence.

25 Fly In

About 25 white clergymen arrived in Selma from Washington Monday night to take part in Tuesday's march.

Other members of King's staff, together with field workers of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, conducted workshops at the old twin-spired Browns Chapel A. M. E. Church to prepare the marchers for what they might face.

The instructors emphasized the danger of panic if the gas-masked state troopers fired tear gas into the marchers as happened Sunday. They also warned the Negroes against acts of retaliation.

Said the Rev. James Bevel, a Mississippi-born field lieutenant in the drive:

"The main thing we are trying to get across is not to be afraid. Tear gas will burn your eyes and pinch your skin, but the main thing is not to be afraid of it."

Some Negroes hurled rocks and bottles at sheriff's deputies in front of the church after they had been chased back across the Alabama River bridge and through the streets.

Inside the red brick church, the command post for the 7-week-old voter drive, field packs and bags of clothing, unused Sunday, were piled up for Tuesday's march.

Portable Toilets

Outside in a driveway stood a truck loaded with four portable toilets. Trucks also carried tents, blankets and other field equipment for camping out at night. The march route stretched 50 miles from Selma to Montgomery.

Attendants at Good Samaritan Hospital and Burwell Infirmary said 83 Negroes were treated for tear gas sickness and injuries following Sunday's violent dispersal of the marchers.

Gale Sayers Arrested At KU Protest

Lawrence, Kan. (AP)— More than 100 white and Negro students at the University of Kansas were arrested Monday night in a civil rights demonstration after they refused to leave the office of Dr. W. Clarke Wescoe, the university's chancellor.

They were booked on charges of trespassing and disturbing the peace and released on bonds of $25 each.

About 400 students participated in the march and no trouble developed.

In order to keep the demonstration legal, the students passed the chancellor's home in groups of three at 25-foot intervals.

The march broke up in time for women students to meet the 10:30 p.m. curfew at their dormitories.

Leaders of the group said another demonstration is planned Tuesday morning at Strong Hall, where Wescoe's office is.

Among the students arrested at Strong Hall were Gale Sayers, All-America football player, and George Unseld, former KU basketball star.

VA Medical Advisory Unit Reaffirms Support Of Move To Close Hospitals

Washington (AP)—The Veterans Administration's special medical advisory group reaffirmed Monday its support of the VA's decision to close 11 hospitals and 4 homes.

The chairman of the 23-member group, Dr. Thomas H. Brem, told a reporter that the controversy had been discussed and it was agreed that it is necessary when conditions change that the VA hospital system should be ready for change too.

"The system can't be inflexibly maintained without in the long run leading to deterioration of medical care," said Brem.

Appropriate

"We reaffirmed our position today that it is the propriety and even the obligation of the VA to make appropriate changes in its medical care program to meet effectively the changes in medical care and population changes."

He said the group of nongovernment experts took into consideration that the VA has to operate under budget limitations. Brem is professor of medicine at the University of Southern California School of Medicine in Los Angeles.

"We are aware that there are hospitals in the VA system that are outmoded in one respect or another," Brem said. "It might be physical obsolescence or it might be the kind of program that is offered.

Not As Effective

"Over the years, the VA Department of Medicine, on advice of medical advisory groups and others, has moved toward closing big TB, and psychiatric hospitals and free-standing domiciliary homes. Patient treatment in these is not as effective as care in a general hospital environment where all the knowledge and facilities can be brought to bear on paitent care problems.

"Also, some hospitals are small and difficult to staff with a complete range of services that really are required.

"There are also marked differences in the demand for and need of hospitals in various areas. As an example, several of the hospitals which it is proposed to close have no bed waiting list and a low rejection rate."

More Liberal

He explained that a low rejection rate is generally regarded as meaning that the staff doctors in such hospitals are more liberal in approving admissions than are the doctors at the hospitals with high rates.

Brem cited the Miles City, Mont., hospital as an example of one with a low rejection rate. Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and other members of the Montana congressional delegation are fighting to keep this facility open.

The doctor said he recently visited the Miles City hospital, was told that it had no bed waiting list and that its rejection rate was about 10%. In contrast, he said, the VA hospital in New Orleans has a rejection rate of 60% and the over-all VA average is 40%.

Lincoln's VA hospital is among those slated to be closed.

Louisiana Vote Test Is Illegal

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday declared Louisiana's voter literacy test unconstitutional. And it gave the Justice Department broad authority to challenge similar stiff registration laws in other states.

The Louisiana law, struck down by a 9-0 decision, allowed registrars to turn down applicants if they failed to understand and interpret any section of the state or federal Constitutions.

In this and a parallel Mississippi case, the court held the Justice Department could bring a blanket challenge against the states themselves on such laws rather than having to bring suit against individual registrars.

'Hamstrung'

Negro leaders have protested that such practices have hamstrung their efforts to register Negro voters in the South.

Speaking for a unanimous court, Justice Hugo L. Black declared the Louisiana requirement was "not a test but a trap" which could prevent even the most intelligent Negro from registering as a voter.

In the second 9-0 decision, the court overruled a lower court which had dismissed a Justice Department suit challenging the state of Mississippi's literacy test laws and registrar practices. This means the case must be tried in District Court.

The rulings gave the Justice Department a strong new weapon with which to attack restrictive state practices such as those in Louisiana.

'Powerless'

Both Mississippi and Louisiana argued that the Justice Department was powerless to bring action against the states. They contended that suits had to be filed against individual registrars.

In the Mississippi case, the lower court used this as the basis for dismissing without trial the federal government's suit.

At another point, he said that in the light of past judicial rulings, it "seems rather surprising that the District Court entertained seriously the argument that the United States could not constitutionally sue a state."

Cherished Right

In throwing out the Louisiana law, Black declared for the unanimous court: "The cherished right of people in a country like ours to vote cannot be obliterated by the use of laws like this, which leave the voting fate of a citizen to the passing whim or impulse of an individual registrar."

He noted evidence that some Negroes, even with advanced education, were ruled ineligible under the interpretation test by white registrars with less education than the rejected applicants.

Block Multiple Choice

In upholding a lower court ruling in the Louisiana case, the Supreme Court also temporarily blocked use of a new multiple-choice test in 21 state parishes until a reregistration of everyone is undertaken.

The Justice Department brought both challenges under the 1960 civil rights law.

In a separate action, the court agreed to hear arguments next term on a challenge of Virginia's law requiring payment of a poll tax in order to vote in state or local elections.

The state and local system was adopted after the poll tax for voting in federal elections was nullified by amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

Religion Is Ground For Exemption

Washington (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled Monday that a person may be exempted from military service on religious grounds, no matter how "incomprehensible" his beliefs may be to others, as long as he is sincere.

This does not include, the unanimous court said, those who claim to be conscientious objectors on a "merely personal" code not related to the definitions of belief in a supreme being.

The draft law also does not exclude, the tribunal said, those "who disavowing religious beliefs, decide on the basis of essentially political, sociological or economic considerations that war is wrong and they will have no part in it."

Reversals Upheld

Monday's ruling upheld lower federal court reversals of the convictions of Daniel Andrew Seeger and Arno Sascha Jakobson, both of New York City, who were sentenced to one year's imprisonment for refusing to report for induction into the armed forces.

The decision knocked down a lower federal court ruling which upheld a similar conviction of Forest Britt Peter of Hayward, Calif., who was sentenced to six months.

At issue is the 1948 draft law which exempts from military service anybody "who by reason of religious training and belief is conscientiously opposed to participation in war." The law defines such training and belief as "an individual's belief in a relation to a supreme being."

Justice Tom C. Clark, speaking for the high court, said:

"We have concluded that Congress, in using the expression 'supreme being' rather than the designations of 'God,' was merely clarifying the meaning of religious training and belief so as to embrace all religions and to exclude essentially political, sociological or philosophical views.

Sincerity Test

"We believe that under this construction, the test of belief 'in a relation to a supreme being' is whether a given belief that is sincere and meaningful occupies a place in the life of its possessor parallel to that filled by the orthodox belief in God of one who clearly qualifies for the exemption."

Noting that "over 250 sects inhabit our land," Clark said, "it must be remembered that in resolving these exemption problems one deals with the beliefs of different individuals who will articulate them in a multitude of ways.

"In such an intensely personal area, of course, the claim of the registrant that his belief is an essential part of a religious faith must be given great weight," he said.

Clark said the validity of what a person believes cannot be questioned. He declared:

"Local boards and courts in this sense are not free to reject beliefs because they consider them "incomprehensible.' Their task is to decide whether the beliefs professed by a registrant are sincerely held and whether they are, in his own scheme of things, religious."

HE JUST TRIED TO HELP

Atlanta Naval Air Reservist James R. George, 23, went to the aid of a 16-year-old girl who was being attacked by a group of youths in a Philadelphia subway station. He said at least six bystanders did nothing. George got a black eye for his efforts.

Congress Gets Bill On Assassinations

Washington (AP)—A bill sent to Congress Monday would give federal officers authority to arrest and prosecute anyone involved in an assassination, kidnaping or assault on the president.

This authority was lacking Nov. 22, 1963, when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said, and federal officers were unable to investigate the slaying or to take charge of the assassin when he was captured.

"This inability to act," Katzenbach said, resulted in the slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald by Jack Ruby while Oswald was in the custody of Dallas, Tex., police.

Warren Panel

The Johnson administration submitted the measure to Congress at the recommendation of the commission headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, which investigated the Kennedy assassination.

The proposed law would make it a federal crime to assassinate, kidnap or assault the president, vice president, or anyone else next in succession, president-elect or vice president-elect.

It carries a penalty of death or life imprisonment for killing or kidnaping a president, with up to 15 years in jail for assault.

$100,000 Rewards

Under the bill, the attorney general would be authorized to offer rewards of up to $100,000 for a presidential assassin.

Witnesses in the trial of a case under this proposed law would not be permitted to plead possible self-incrimination to avoid testifying. They could be forced to testify and granted immunity from any prosecution resulting from their testimony.

Where there might be a conflict between federal and state authority in case of assassination, kidnaping or assault on the president, the bill provides that federal officers would take charge.

Similar Proposals

A number of similar bills have been submitted since the Kennedy assassination.

In a letter to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and House Speaker John W. McCormack, Katzenbach said the Kennedy assassination "focused attention on an anomaly in federal law: It is not a federal crime to assassinate the president . . . nor do federal investigative agencies have absolute jurisdiction to investigate the assassination of a president."

Thus, when Kennedy was slain, he said, "there was no clear basis for the exercise of federal investigative jurisdiction, and when the assassin was apprehended, federal authorities were unable to assert authority and take him into custody for questioning and safekeeping."

Sanity Trial Set For Ruby; Lawyers Spat

Dallas (UPI) — Judge Joe B. Brown Monday ordered a jury trial to rule on Jack Ruby's sanity, but touched off a legal squabble by assigning the condemned slayer an attorney he profanely opposes.

Overruling a series of defense motions, Brown ordered the 54-year-old killer of Lee Harvey Oswald to be tried March 29. The outcome of the trial could decide whether Ruby goes to the electric chair for murder.

Brown assigned attorneys Phil Burleson of Dallas and Joe Tonahill of Jasper, Tex., who had helped Melvin Belli of San Francisco during the unsuccessful defense of Ruby at his trial just one year ago. Burleson is acceptable to Ruby and his family, but Tonahill is not.

Sol Dann of Detroit, the attorney the Ruby family wants, said he would ask a federal court in a week or 10 days to disqualify Judge Brown.

Ruby himself said twice he wanted nothing to do with Tonahill.

But Tonahill said only:

"I'm going to work like hell for Jack Ruby. I have a loyal, legal, moral duty to this boy."

Court To Examine FPC Price Ceiling Powers

Washington (UPI)—The Supreme Court Monday agreed to examine the right of the Federal Power Commission to impose price ceilings on initial sales of natural gas in interstate commerce.

The case, stemming from a southern Louisiana rate situation, could affect the gas bills of millions of consumers throughout the country.

Shah Of Iran Charges Egypt With 'Aggression' In Yemen

London (UPI)—The shah of Iran Monday accused the United Arab Republic of carrying out "aggression" against Yemen.

The shah, in a speech to a Foreign Press Association luncheon, said he still hoped that relations between Iran and Egypt would improve.

"If (U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel) Nasser can overcome his difficulties, let him try to compete with us in the realization of our program and his program . . ."

He said Iran had not recognized the republican regime in Yemen "because it does not represent the will of the Yemini people."

The shah, on a private visit to London, said the thousands of Egyptian troops in Yemen "was an act of aggression."

"Why else whould Egypt keep 50,000 troops there?" he asked.

Indians Dead

Rawalpindi, Pakistan (AP)—Eight Indian troops have been killed in recent clashes along the Kashmir cease-fire line, the Pakistan government claimed.

Negro Dragged Away Near Katzenbach Office

Washington (AP) — Guards dragged a young Negro from outside the office door of Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach Monday. He insisted on getting in to demand federal protection for Negroes seeking to register to vote in Selma, Ala.

While Dale Smith, a tall, powerfully built youth from Pittsburgh, Pa., was being hauled kicking down the corridor, Katzenbach was inside meeting with his civil rights experts about the Selma situation.

Smith and two other Negro youths of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee barged through a reception office into the secretary's office adjacent to Katzenbach's.

No Appointment

Aides and building officials said they had no appointment and asked them to leave quietly. One aide offered to try to get them five minutes with Katzenbach if they would promise to leave promptly. They refused. Finally Chief U.S. Marshal James P. McShane ordered them forceably ejected.

It took three and sometimes four guards to haul Smith away, while his colleagues, Frank Smith and Jean Smith, no relatives, followed quietly on foot.

As he was dragged along the corridor, Dale Smith called sarcastically to a passer-by: "Freedom, buddy, freedom!" He was clutching in his hand a rumpled paperback book entitled "If He Hollers, Let Him Go."

Persuasion

When the elevator reached the basement, the guards and Frank and Jean Smith persuaded Dale to cooperate.

"We're no trash," one perspiring Negro guard said.

"We don't like to be made clowns out of. Now will you come along like a gentleman?"

Captain's Office

Later, as the three sat in the office of a guard captain —who said they were not under arrest — Frank Smith said:

"It did not take the attorney general long to get his policemen up here to throw us out. Why can't he give us some protection in Alabama?

"It's this way all the time —whenever we get near the man we want to see—the registrar, the police chief, the attorney general — someone calls the cops."

Later, workmen installed a lock on the door of the reception room as well as a buzzer alarm for the receptionist to press with her knee to summon guards.

Leave

The Negroes finally were persuaded to leave the building when they were told Negro civil rights leaders — including a representative of their organization — had an appointment to see Katzenbach later in the day.

They said that unless the government agrees to provide federal protection for Negroes in Alabama and to arrest law enforcement officials — including Gov. George C. Wallace — involved in Sunday's clash, they would return for another try to reach Katzenbach.

'FBI Agent Hit Possibly By Deputy'

Washington (AP) — An Alabama deputy sheriff may have been involved in the attack on an FBI agent in Selma Sunday, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach said Monday.

Katzenbach told newsmen, "At least one FBI agent was assaulted. "We are in the process of ascertaining by whom. We believe the assault was carried on by a number of observers. One deputy sheriff may have participated."

In Selma, Agent Daniel Doyle of Little Rock said he was attacked and his camera taken while he and other FBI men observed the attempted march.

Field Work Is Delayed

Stormy weather during the past week caused further delay in field work and hardship on livestock, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's weekly weather and crop report released on Monday.

In the western half of the state, said the report, high winds caused some additional loss of winter wheat on light soils and in fields that had little if any snow cover. Reports indicate that wheat seeded in some fields has germinated but has not emerged. Moisture was still short in this area.

Elsewhere in the state, the additional moisture was sufficient to improve the outlook for the winter wheat crop.

High winds caused drifting of snow that will cause wet spots in fields when the snow melts. Heavy runoff caused flooding in the extreme eastern part of the state. The ground remained frozen and absorption of water was slow.

Heavier Feeding

The report said the stormy weather caused heavier feeding of livestock. Supplies of feed and forage were becoming short in local areas.

In areas receiving snow and rain, the outlook for spring grass was good provided temperatures are high enough to start early growth of cool season grasses. Winter ranges and pastures have been utilized extensively during the winter season and feed supplies were scarce.

Calving, according to the report, was well underway and the extreme variations in temperature along with rain and snow had caused farmers and ranchers to devote more than the usual care to the saving of calves. So far no unusual losses had occurred. The number of sows farrowing had increased with good litter sizes being reported.

Feed lots were extremely muddy and some foot trouble in cattle was reported, caused by the alternate freezing and thawing of the lots the report said. Gains on feed lot cattle had been slowed because of the adverse weather conditions.

Unicameral Committee Holds Bill Curbing Sale Of Smut Magazines

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

A bill proposing to ban sale of so-called smut magazines to children under 18 was strongly supported Monday by teenagers and adults before the Legislature's Judiciary Committee.

But critics of the measure charged the measure was unconstitutional and said Nebraska's obscene literature law enacted in 1961 is "one of the most comprehensive in the nation."

The committee held the bill, LB515, for study after a two-hour public hearing.

Taken Over

Sen. Eugene Mahoney, a former Omaha policeman, said the smut magazines "have taken over the newstands" and present legislation doesn't go far enough to control the growing problem.

Teen-age spokesmen showed the committee copies of several magazines, which they termed "indecent and obscene."

They said a number of interviewed businessmen said they wouldn't sell such magazines to teenagers, but teenagers were later able to make test purchases in the interviewed establishments.

Related

An Omaha pyschiatrist said the smut magazines can be directly related to adolescent sexual behaviour problems, contending:

"Other products considered harmful to the adolescent are regulated by law, why not obscene literature?"

Other support came from the Omaha Archdiocese of Catholic Women, the Omaha Parent-Teacher Council and the Nebraska School Improvement Association.

Opposition

He said his clients supported the 1961 comprehensive obscenity law, but the new proposal "is not constitutional because it seeks to establish a double standard — one for adults and one for children."

"No dealer can handle pornographic literature and stay in business," he said. He said one magazine attacked by the bill's supporters "has been cleared by every court in this country."

Problems

Joe R. Seacrest, editor of the Lincoln Journal, said provisions of the bill raise "many technical and practical problems for newspapers."

He said he favored the intent of the bill, but that it "would burn down the house to roast the pig."

Charles Thone, representing the Nebraska Theater Association, objected to a proposed amendment to include movies in the bill without prior notice of hearing.

Also Held

Also held by the committee was LB551 that would bar the use of a lie-detector test as a condition of employment.

A state AFL-CIO spokesman said the use of the polygraph in private business "tends toward a police state environment" and "is an invasion of private rights."

But, the Omaha Police Department said the polygraph is used in private industry to detect employe thefts.

Overloaded

"If it weren't for this security work by business, police would be overloaded," a spokesman told the committee. He also suggested the bill "might be a foot in the door against the use of polygraph tests in police investigations."

Two other bills were heard without opposition:

—LB595 to permit the juvenile court to release minors on bail.

—LB592 to permit one spouse to sign for the other in applications for joint certificate of title on motor vehicles to a county clerk.

Pair Asking Wild Rivers Protection

Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and Henry Jackson, D-Wash., introduced bills to complish this.

The bills would try to preserve primitive conditions along certain rivers in wilderness areas.

Rivers initially included in the wild rivers system would be parts of the Salmon and Clearwater in Idaho, the Rogue in Oregon, the Rio Grande in New Mexico, the Green in Wyoming, and the Suwannee in Georgia and Florida.

Others Could Be Added

Other streams would be added later.

Church said a study by Agriculture and Interior department specialists has identified 73 rivers as possibly meriting attention for preservation.

The legislation was requested by President Johnson, both in his State of the Union message and his conservation message to Congress, Church said.

Companion Measure

Church called the wild rivers bill a companion measure to a wilderness bill passed by Congress last year. The wilderness bill authorized creation of a national wilderness system to protect and conserve wilderness areas.

Among rivers that could be added to the system by separate legislation, Church said, are portions of the Buffalo in Tennessee, Cacapon in West Virginia, Eleven Point in Missouri, Upper Hudson in New York, Missouri in Montana, Niobrara in Nebraska, Sakgit in Washington, Susquehanna in New York and Pennsylvania, and the Wolf in Wisconsin.

Rudy V. Glanz Files For City Council Post

Rudy V. Glanz, 4316 D, has filed for nomination to the City Council in the April 6 primary election, bringing the total filings for the council to four.

He gave as his reason for filing the "need for new and young blood, now more than ever, to help guide our taxpayers' dollars."

Glanz said he favors the city "getting into the parking business" by opening city-owned parking lots. Development of a mall on O should be delayed until parking problems are solved, he said.

Glanz said he would support the location of a city-county building at 15th and O, but emphasized that it was up to the voters to decide.

Dr. John E. Lux, 4519 Baldwin, associate professor of secondary education at the University of Nebraska, filed for nomination to the Board of Education and Richard Joyce, 1620 Skyline Drive, vice president of Henkle and Joyce Hardware Co., filed for re-election to the Airport Authority.

LBJ Cancels Latin America Trip Planning

Washington (AP) — President Johnson has canceled any planning for a Latin American trip at this time, because of international conditions, the White House announced Monday.

White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy said Johnson still hopes to visit Latin America, as he said in his State of the Union message to Congress.

"But, because of the international situation," Reedy said, "the President has deferred, for the time being, any consideration of a trip to Latin America."

The principal international problem at this time is Viet Nam.

The White House says Johnson has been spending about three-fourths of his time on foreign affairs lately.

The chief executive also has said he would welcome a chance to visit Europe and Russia.

Field Work Is Delayed

Stormy weather during the past week caused further delay in field work and hardship on livestock, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's weekly weather and crop report released on Monday.

In the western half of the state, said the report, high winds caused some additional loss of winter wheat on light soils and in fields that had little if any snow cover. Reports indicate that wheat seeded in some fields has germinated but has not emerged. Moisture was still short in this area.

Elsewhere in the state, the additional moisture was sufficient to improve the outlook for the winter wheat crop.

High winds caused drifting of snow that will cause wet spots in fields when the snow melts. Heavy runoff caused flooding in the extreme eastern part of the state. The ground remained frozen and absorption of water was slow.

Heavier Feeding

The report said the stormy weather caused heavier feeding of livestock. Supplies of feed and forage were becoming short in local areas.

In areas receiving snow and rain, the outlook for spring grass was good provided temperatures are high enough to start early growth of cool season grasses. Winter ranges and pastures have been utilized extensively during the winter season and feed supplies were scarce.

An Impressive Indictment

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Hardly any part of our national government has been left unscarred in the denunciations and accusations hurled during the past week by Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska. Curtis started out with his favorite subject, the Bobby Baker investigation by the Senate. In this attack, the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and the U.S. Justice Department were labeled as a part of the conspiracy to cover up the Baker affair.

A little later, Senator Curtis went to Oshkosh, Neb., where he lambasted the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government in a sweeping wholesale indictment. On the latter subject, he said: the rural areas are "fighting with their backs to the wall" as a result of the Supreme Court decisions dealing with state legislative apportionment. He went on to explain that "powerful groups, ambitious politicians and political bosses are influencing court decision, acts of Congress and of the executive in a way that constitutes tyranny against the minority."

Tyranny Of Majority

The Baker affair seems to be one in which you can take your choice and be happy with it, regardless of what it is. It is a little far fetched to suggest that the FBI and the Justice Department are involved in any giant conspiracy but, also, it would be unreasonable to give Mr. Baker any clean bill of health.

The matter of the U.S. Supreme Court decision on apportionment, however, is quite another thing. Senator Curtis is treading on very thin ice when he indicts the entire framework of our national government with a distortion of the facts.

The idea that apportionment under terms of the high court ruling constitutes tyranny over the minority just is not the case. This ruling has called for equal representation, not representation weighted in favor of urban area. Turning the coin to the other side, what is the logic of having a system of representation in which the minority is given dominance over the majority? That, however, is the logical conclusion of the senator's position. The situation right here in Nebraska can serve to clarify the matter for those who are interested in the truth.

When and if the Nebraska Legislature reapportions itself, the balance of power will still be held by rural interests. If rural Nebraska senators want to get together in an alliance against urban senators, they could do so and win any battle that came their way. Even with reapportionment on a strict population basis the urban areas of the state could not get together in an effective front against rural Nebraska. Total numbers in the Legislature will still favor the rural areas. Beyond that, what is the great fight or argument that exists between these rural and urban people? We spend a lot of time discussing the assumed conflicts between the two and not enough time looking at the similarities.

It is actually a rare thing to see the Nebraska Legislature divided on a strict rural and urban split. It can happen, all right, but the more common thing is to see quite a mixture of voting with some rural senators voting the urban interest and some urban senators voting the rural interest.

People of Nebraska, regardless of where they live, are acutely aware of the fact that agriculture is the biggest single industry in this state. They know that, even though they might live in the city, they are dependent to a very large degree upon the prosperity of the state's farmers and ranchers.

Too, where is the support for the assertion by Curtis that the courts, Congress and the administration are dancing a jig to the tune of "powerful groups, ambitious politicians and political bosses"? The intent of the assertion is to attack the validity of the decisions and actions taken by these branches of government because the senator happens to disagree with them. In this way, one doesn't have to argue the merits of a proposition but simply attack the motives behind it.

Sellout Noted Doesn't Show

We doubt very much that the American people are ready to attribute this kind of behavior to the entire federal government. And for every legitimate interest that is found in Washington, on reapportionment as well as all other matters, one can find an interest in the opposite direction. Senator Curtis has sunk pretty low when he accuses every branch of government of a wholesale sellout of the American people.

GOP Sees LBJ Over Barrel In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON—There's a very good though unadvertised reason why the Republican leadership has decided to take a tough stand on Viet Nam.

In their secret policy meeting huddles, Republican senators and congressmen have agreed they have President Johnson over a barrel. They figure that Viet Nam was a dead end for Eisenhower, and must be for Johnson. Eventually he will have to pull out.

When that happens they can point to their own loyal, unfailing support, then accuse LBJ of backing down despite that support. This is what the Republicans regard as a "tails-I-win, heads-you-lose" political proposition.

This type of thinking has pervaded all GOP unofficial discussion of the Viet Nam crisis, though it hasn't been expressed in exactly those words.

When it comes to official discussion at GOP policy meetings, Sen. Dirksen of Illinois has taken the lead, has made somewhat the same statements as he has made publicly. It's at the informal discussions that the real strategy is talked about.

Dirksen was not present at the next to the last policy meeting, having been in the hospital. This was a luncheon meeting to which most Republican senators were invited, including non-members of the committee. Bourke Hickenlooper, Iowa, as policy chairman, presided. He launched into an endorsement of the President's get-tough policy in Viet Nam and was echoed by ten or twelve other senators. Not one disagreed, not even Jack Javits, the New York liberal who seldom agrees with Hickenlooper on anything.

Senators Karl Mundt, S.D., and Jack Miller, Iowa, grumbled about the insults the United States has been receiving from just about every two-bit nation. One of them pointed out that the United States had suffered forty to fifty affronts, including embassy-stonings and library-burnings, during the past year. Speaker after speaker expressed outrage.

Only skeptic was Roman Hruska of Nebraska who questioned whether the bomb damage in North Viet Nam was as great as the Johnson administration claimed. Hruska was suspicious of Johnson's failure to release pictures of the targets.

"I would like to see some pictures of these so-called retaliatory attacks," he huffed. "I'd like to see exactly what the damage was."

As a result of the Republicans' official support for LBJ on Viet Nam, the White House is giving Sen. Dirksen the green light on patronage. On Capitol Hill it's now said: "If you want a job from Johnson, talk to Dirksen."

The urbane senator from Illinois will have the appointment of two key vacancies on the Federal Power Commission and the Federal Communications Commission. The first will affect the gas and electricity rates for millions of housewives and American industry for some years to come.

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

Spring came piping across the countryside a week ago Saturday, and winter beat a hasty retreat. The last snowbank north of the house melted away and sent little rivulets of water draining toward the lane. I took the hoe and made small drainage ditches to help the flow of water away from the yard. I didn't need to do it, but it gave me an excuse to be out in the warm sunlight. I might say I was just "piddling."

"Spring is here!" I shouted across the yard to The Farmer. He laughed and said, "You'll think spring is here, the next blizzard we have." The word "blizzard" seemed old and trite on Saturday. Monday was a different story. There was another bank of snow against the north side of the house and I could not see the end of the lane. It was a "blamed, bleak, blizzardy, blue Monday." I should have known Nebraska weather by now, but spring was so delightful ... while it lasted ...

I took to the kitchen early that morning and by noon had made a buttermilk chocolate cake, complete with a cooked date filling and boiled chocolate frosting. I also made hot rolls and cinnamon rolls. With a little bit of luck, some of this food lasted the remainder of the week to accompany coffee as The Farmer stopped for his mid-morning and mid-afternoon snacks.

None of the baking I did came from a packaged mix. I prefer making things when I have the time, rather than adding water and eggs to an already blended mixture. However, ready mixes are also a boon to home-making when other tasks occupy the working woman's time. I feel I am buying time when I use a packaged mix. Time can also be an expensive item.

My baking time was interspersed by The Farmer who was working a crossword puzzle.

"What's a two-letter word for a French article?"

"I never work crossword puzzles and besides, my French is horrid," I answered from the kitchen, knowing full well that I wanted to get into the act. Now, where was I? Was it four tablespoons of cocoa dissolved in three tablespoons of hot water, or three tablespons of cocoa dissolved in four tablespoons of hot water?

"What do you call an official of ancient Rome?"

"I know less about Roman history than I do about French," I again answered, trying to quiet the little voice within that kept saying, "Forget the cake and try the crossword puzzle."

Meanwhile, back in the kitchen ...

Beat three Roman officials—dear, no, beat three eggs until light and fluffy and ...

"What is the name of a Samoan warrior?" came the voice again, loud and clear. "I have the name for an official of ancient Rome. Now, if I can get this one, I'll soon be finished."

"How many letters?" I bluffed, as if I might have a clue.

"Three," he stated, hoping I did.

"Alternate the three cups of buttermilk with the one cup of flour," I mumbled to myself as I struggled to put the cake together. Heavens! What was I doing! I caught the error in time ... one cup of buttermilk and three cups of sifted flour.

"Admit it," said the little voice. "You really want to get in on the finis (that's Latin for the conclusion or end) of the crossword puzzle."

I beat the mixture well and poured it into two cake tins.

"To distract the attention of," again came the voice.

"That is exactly what you are doing," I answered as I put the cake batter into the oven and settled myself at the table with The Farmer.

Aren't blizzards wonderful when the man of the house has time for puzzles and his wife has time to puzzle over the puzzles with him?

Alabama In Spotlight

It isn't a very pleasant picture one gets of the integration or equal rights battle now going on in Selma, Ala. Were it not for the Negro drive there for voting rights, most people would have lived and died without ever having heard of Selma.

The mark that is being left on Selma is the same kind of mark being left throughout much of the south. You hear it said that the Negro marchers in Selma have brought things on themselves, that law and order demand that the marchers be dispersed, even if this means violent action against them.

Certainly, the action taken against the Selma marchers has been violent enough. It has been so violent, in fact, that you wonder how state troopers of Alabama are able to sleep at night. You would think the vision of them clubbing a human being to the ground would tend to nauseate them and given them restlessness through the night.

Such, however, doesn't seem to be the case and the law continues to be relentlessly applied to perpetuate the injustices that exist. And when the day comes that all these equal rights problems have been solved, the Negro will have attained the goal of freedom he seeks.

The local communities and the state that are fighting the equal rights movement cannot and will not win. They are only adding to their defeat a reputation and a name that will haunt them for a long time in the future. They are throwing away the opportunity to finally rid themselves of the segregation albatross that has hung around their necks for generations. If there is any error in the Negro marching issue, there is much greater error on the side of a social, economic and political order that has forced such action.

Holding The Line

The current week is of unusual interest to three quarters of a million American girls, to far more parents and to the country at large.

It is the week set aside for the observance of the 53rd birthday of the Girls Scouts of America. It began March 7, will end after March 13.

Scouting occupies the attention of girls from the age of 7 when they enter the program as Brownies, through the stages of Juniors and Cadets, to the Senior level which ends at the age of 17. The theme of this year's observance has to do with bridging the gaps within the organization's own age groups, which is a way of saying that the organization is emphasizing the continuum of its principles and practices. But this is a matter of internal mechanics. What the public is interested in is why do the Girl Scouts exist. How essential is the organization?

In our opinion its existence is mandatory if future Americans are to continue in the character of past Americans. The Girl Scouts emphasize those American traits that have always been considered most noble and most desirable—loyalty, courtesy, cheerfulness, usefulness and thrift. These are abstractions. They must be taught and learned. If they are not then our society will become something else. They are actually the qualities that have improved Americans and they illustrate the traits we all aspire to.

The increase in population and the urbanization of the country provides a challenge to home training. They require added emphasis on the desirable practices to prevent their deterioration. Fortunately, as social changes occurred, the nation was able to bring forth such a youth organization that now helps to hold the social equation in balance. We are very fortunate to have a thriving Girl Scout organization And it is formidable to think what might have been the consequences had no such organization been founded.

On Second Thought

In 1959 90 per cent of eligible voters decided to organize a 92,000 acre conservancy and flood control district in Gage and Jefferson counties.

The organization followed usual lines, providing for a local watershed levy for district funds to match, on an approximate 50-50 basis, the federal funds provided under P.L. 566. The purpose is flood control of the Cub Creek watershed. This is a substantial drainage area running through sizeable portions of Gage and Jefferson counties before it empties into the Blue River.

Preliminiary planning has been carried forward for some time by federal engineers based at Fairbury and now the almost $2.5 million project is about ready for the dirt moving stage. No material control installations are planned for Cub Creek itself, but several rather large reservoirs are planned for the Cub Creek tributaries. That seems to be the hitch. An important flood control undertaking in southeast Nebraska may go out of business before a drop of water is conserved. Sufficient signatures have been obtained to require a referendum on the dissolution of the district.

An outsider gets the idea from this undertaking that flood control by collective effort always has a weakness. Everyone is for it on some one else's farm. But no one wants to lose a single acre. That was the issue prior to the construction of the great Tuttle Creek impoundment on the Blue River near Manhattan, Kansas. The bottom land owners fought to a finish.

It was the same story in Western Nebraska before Lake McConnaughy was constructed. But sound reclamation has a way of persevering and the complaints are always forgotten once the improvement is in effect. The gains always greatly offset the losses.

BOB CONSIDINE

Viet Nam Is Real, An Important War

HONOLULU—A bloke gets a clearer view of the war in Viet Nam when he's 5,000 miles closer to it than his customary observation post on the east coast of the U.S. of A., the post with wall-to-wall ivory.

A constant stream of war hardware is passing through Hickam Field, Pearl Harbor and Schofield Barracks these days. The men involved are as dead game and serious about our undeclared conflict in Southeast Asia as were their predecessors in the bloody midst of World War II and the awful business in Korea.

If there is any such animal as an Average American Serviceman out this way (and there is, of course), he is confronting the rest of us with some pretty pointed questions. To wit:

"What's the matter with you jokers on the mainland? Don't you know there's a war on?

"Does anybody back there know what he's talking about when he suggests that we just pull up stakes and get the hell out of Viet Nam? If we walked out, brother, the Chinese would walk in the next day. By the millions, Bub. Like locusts. If we're going to fight them one of these years, or generations, and you can be damn certain we will, you want to fight them from the West Coast or from the places where we're holding them now"?

When the Marines go in to beef up the protection of our positions in South Viet Nam, they are not going to ask permission of whoever is in charge at Saigon that day if it would be okay to clobber the Viet Cong group approaching with the mortars and plastic bombs. Our Army people feel the same way. The Navy has already indicated what it can and will do if messed around with and more. The Air Force is now mounting an operation which involves the use of weapons systems undreamed of six months ago, including 1,400 m.p.h. Republic F-105S each able to carry and drop a much greater load of conventional bombs than the heavy bombers of World War II.

Nobody here speaks of Viet Nam as a brush-fire war, or "Police Action." Rather, it is looked upon as a war involving directly or indirectly a colossal number of friends and foes spread over incredible distances. You could drop three United States' into the Pacific and they'd barely bridge the water between California and Viet Nam. The thin defense line we're maintaining from northern Japan down to where the cheese binds in Viet Nam stretches 4,000 miles. Our pledged allies in Asia number 22?,000,000, our enemies and the flaccid neutrals, seven times that many.

The feeling around here is that in any fight you'd better be real good and real ready if you're outnumbered seven to one.

Americans Lucky

Lincoln, Neb.

The American people are very fortunate that we live in a democracy and do not know tyranny. A Cuban organization of Miami, Florida, has had a report published entitled "Can This Happen To The Americas?" which reveals what has actually happened in Cuba since the communists took over.

As excerpts from the report state, when communism takes over, you helplessly witness how all industries, business, and centers of production are confiscated and how your country is hurled into chaos and ruin. You feel defenseless and confused. News media, controlled by the state, separate you from the truth. Your home is invaded by Marxist slogans. A campaign is unleashed against democracy, against society, against free enterprise, all expressed in slogans against the United States, and you find yourself forced to take part in it.

A police rule of assault and terror is enforced to keep you in bondage. The political police persecute you and you live in a constant state of intense panic.

You have to helplessly watch how the minds and souls of your children are poisoned. Using educational reform as a pretext, your children receive only communist indoctrination, and the child is converted into a spy to inform against parents. Because religious beliefs and believers are persecuted and church congregations are harassed, you don't dare to enter a church, as you fear the consequences.

Everyone who enters or leaves your home is watched and reported. You cannot take anything in or out of your home without permission. If you protest, you will be continually subject to arrest in your home, arrested by a group of men at any time or day or night. Once you are classified as "counter-revolutionary," your most harmless and innocent acts are labeled as crimes against the state.

Lincoln, Neb.

Within the last few weeks I have received through the mail or in newspapers and magazines over $2.25 worth of coupons amounting to from 5 to 15 cents off different products. After one subtracts the coupon from the regular price it costs more than the brand I usually buy.

Then, most of the coupons are good only until the end of the month. You get them on the ninth or tenth, generally after one has stocked up on the items.

What can we do with these coupons? Some stores used to take them on the purchase of the items any time. But no one will look at them now past their date. They are pretty useless for saving on the grocery or drug bill.

I grew up during the depression and was taught never to throw anything away, but what good is saving coupons?

I would like to read the reaction of others concerning the assessment of fines in traffic violations and accidents. The fines seem to me to be out of proportion to the related offenses.

A person exceeding the speed limit through a traffic zone although the violation was uneventful will attract a fine three to four times as great as that levied upon a person who has passed a halted school bus, with red lights going, loading or unloading students. It is a good deal more than levied on a person involved in an accident causing damage of $1,000. I ask which offense carries the greater danger?

The instance of the heavy fine involved a man in uniform whose home is outside Nebraska. Could that have had something to do with it?

An Impressive Indictment

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Hardly any part of our national government has been left unscarred in the denunciations and accusations hurled during the past week by Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska. Curtis started out with his favorite subject, the Bobby Baker investigation by the Senate. In this attack, the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and the U.S. Justice Department were labeled as a part of the conspiracy to cover up the Baker affair.

A little later, Senator Curtis went to Oshkosh, Neb., where he lambasted the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government in a sweeping wholesale indictment. On the latter subject, he said: the rural areas are "fighting with their backs to the wall" as a result of the Supreme Court decisions dealing with state legislative apportionment. He went on to explain that "powerful groups, ambitious politicians and political bosses are influencing court decision, acts of Congress and of the executive in a way that constitutes tyranny against the minority."

Tyranny Of Majority

The Baker affair seems to be one in which you can take your choice and be happy with it, regardless of what it is. It is a little far fetched to suggest that the FBI and the Justice Department are involved in any giant conspiracy but, also, it would be unreasonable to give Mr. Baker any clean bill of health.

The matter of the U.S. Supreme Court decision on apportionment, however, is quite another thing. Senator Curtis is treading on very thin ice when he indicts the entire framework of our national government with a distortion of the facts.

The idea that apportionment under terms of the high court ruling constitutes tyranny over the minority just is not the case. This ruling has called for equal representation, not representation weighted in favor of urban area. Turning the coin to the other side, what is the logic of having a system of representation in which the minority is given dominance over the majority? That, however, is the logical conclusion of the senator's position. The situation right here in Nebraska can serve to clarify the matter for those who are interested in the truth.

When and if the Nebraska Legislature reapportions itself, the balance of power will still be held by rural interests. If rural Nebraska senators want to get together in an alliance against urban senators, they could do so and win any battle that came their way. Even with reapportionment on a strict population basis the urban areas of the state could not get together in an effective front against rural Nebraska. Total numbers in the Legislature will still favor the rural areas. Beyond that, what is the great fight or argument that exists between these rural and urban people? We spend a lot of time discussing the assumed conflicts between the two and not enough time looking at the similarities.

It is actually a rare thing to see the Nebraska Legislature divided on a strict rural and urban split. It can happen, all right, but the more common thing is to see quite a mixture of voting with some rural senators voting the urban interest and some urban senators voting the rural interest.

People of Nebraska, regardless of where they live, are acutely aware of the fact that agriculture is the biggest single industry in this state. They know that, even though they might live in the city, they are dependent to a very large degree upon the prosperity of the state's farmers and ranchers.

Too, where is the support for the assertion by Curtis that the courts, Congress and the administration are dancing a jig to the tune of "powerful groups, ambitious politicians and political bosses"? The intent of the assertion is to attack the validity of the decisions and actions taken by these branches of government because the senator happens to disagree with them. In this way, one doesn't have to argue the merits of a proposition but simply attack the motives behind it.

Sellout Noted Doesn't Show

We doubt very much that the American people are ready to attribute this kind of behavior to the entire federal government. And for every legitimate interest that is found in Washington, on reapportionment as well as all other matters, one can find an interest in the opposite direction. Senator Curtis has sunk pretty low when he accuses every branch of government of a wholesale sellout of the American people.

GOP Sees LBJ Over Barrel In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON—There's a very good though unadvertised reason why the Republican leadership has decided to take a tough stand on Viet Nam.

In their secret policy meeting huddles, Republican senators and congressmen have agreed they have President Johnson over a barrel. They figure that Viet Nam was a dead end for Eisenhower, and must be for Johnson. Eventually he will have to pull out.

When that happens they can point to their own loyal, unfailing support, then accuse LBJ of backing down despite that support. This is what the Republicans regard as a "tails-I-win, heads-you-lose" political proposition.

This type of thinking has pervaded all GOP unofficial discussion of the Viet Nam crisis, though it hasn't been expressed in exactly those words.

When it comes to official discussion at GOP policy meetings, Sen. Dirksen of Illinois has taken the lead, has made somewhat the same statements as he has made publicly. It's at the informal discussions that the real strategy is talked about.

Dirksen was not present at the next to the last policy meeting, having been in the hospital. This was a luncheon meeting to which most Republican senators were invited, including non-members of the committee. Bourke Hickenlooper, Iowa, as policy chairman, presided. He launched into an endorsement of the President's get-tough policy in Viet Nam and was echoed by ten or twelve other senators. Not one disagreed, not even Jack Javits, the New York liberal who seldom agrees with Hickenlooper on anything.

Senators Karl Mundt, S.D., and Jack Miller, Iowa, grumbled about the insults the United States has been receiving from just about every two-bit nation. One of them pointed out that the United States had suffered forty to fifty affronts, including embassy-stonings and library-burnings, during the past year. Speaker after speaker expressed outrage.

Only skeptic was Roman Hruska of Nebraska who questioned whether the bomb damage in North Viet Nam was as great as the Johnson administration claimed. Hruska was suspicious of Johnson's failure to release pictures of the targets.

"I would like to see some pictures of these so-called retaliatory attacks," he huffed. "I'd like to see exactly what the damage was."

As a result of the Republicans' official support for LBJ on Viet Nam, the White House is giving Sen. Dirksen the green light on patronage. On Capitol Hill it's now said: "If you want a job from Johnson, talk to Dirksen."

The urbane senator from Illinois will have the appointment of two key vacancies on the Federal Power Commission and the Federal Communications Commission. The first will affect the gas and electricity rates for millions of housewives and American industry for some years to come.

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

Spring came piping across the countryside a week ago Saturday, and winter beat a hasty retreat. The last snowbank north of the house melted away and sent little rivulets of water draining toward the lane. I took the hoe and made small drainage ditches to help the flow of water away from the yard. I didn't need to do it, but it gave me an excuse to be out in the warm sunlight. I might say I was just "piddling."

"Spring is here!" I shouted across the yard to The Farmer. He laughed and said, "You'll think spring is here, the next blizzard we have." The word "blizzard" seemed old and trite on Saturday. Monday was a different story. There was another bank of snow against the north side of the house and I could not see the end of the lane. It was a "blamed, bleak, blizzardy, blue Monday." I should have known Nebraska weather by now, but spring was so delightful ... while it lasted ...

I took to the kitchen early that morning and by noon had made a buttermilk chocolate cake, complete with a cooked date filling and boiled chocolate frosting. I also made hot rolls and cinnamon rolls. With a little bit of luck, some of this food lasted the remainder of the week to accompany coffee as The Farmer stopped for his mid-morning and mid-afternoon snacks.

None of the baking I did came from a packaged mix. I prefer making things when I have the time, rather than adding water and eggs to an already blended mixture. However, ready mixes are also a boon to home-making when other tasks occupy the working woman's time. I feel I am buying time when I use a packaged mix. Time can also be an expensive item.

My baking time was interspersed by The Farmer who was working a crossword puzzle.

"What's a two-letter word for a French article?"

"I never work crossword puzzles and besides, my French is horrid," I answered from the kitchen, knowing full well that I wanted to get into the act. Now, where was I? Was it four tablespoons of cocoa dissolved in three tablespoons of hot water, or three tablespons of cocoa dissolved in four tablespoons of hot water?

"What do you call an official of ancient Rome?"

"I know less about Roman history than I do about French," I again answered, trying to quiet the little voice within that kept saying, "Forget the cake and try the crossword puzzle."

Meanwhile, back in the kitchen ...

Beat three Roman officials—dear, no, beat three eggs until light and fluffy and ...

"What is the name of a Samoan warrior?" came the voice again, loud and clear. "I have the name for an official of ancient Rome. Now, if I can get this one, I'll soon be finished."

"How many letters?" I bluffed, as if I might have a clue.

"Three," he stated, hoping I did.

"Alternate the three cups of buttermilk with the one cup of flour," I mumbled to myself as I struggled to put the cake together. Heavens! What was I doing! I caught the error in time ... one cup of buttermilk and three cups of sifted flour.

"Admit it," said the little voice. "You really want to get in on the finis (that's Latin for the conclusion or end) of the crossword puzzle."

I beat the mixture well and poured it into two cake tins.

"To distract the attention of," again came the voice.

"That is exactly what you are doing," I answered as I put the cake batter into the oven and settled myself at the table with The Farmer.

Aren't blizzards wonderful when the man of the house has time for puzzles and his wife has time to puzzle over the puzzles with him?

Alabama In Spotlight

It isn't a very pleasant picture one gets of the integration or equal rights battle now going on in Selma, Ala. Were it not for the Negro drive there for voting rights, most people would have lived and died without ever having heard of Selma.

The mark that is being left on Selma is the same kind of mark being left throughout much of the south. You hear it said that the Negro marchers in Selma have brought things on themselves, that law and order demand that the marchers be dispersed, even if this means violent action against them.

Certainly, the action taken against the Selma marchers has been violent enough. It has been so violent, in fact, that you wonder how state troopers of Alabama are able to sleep at night. You would think the vision of them clubbing a human being to the ground would tend to nauseate them and given them restlessness through the night.

Such, however, doesn't seem to be the case and the law continues to be relentlessly applied to perpetuate the injustices that exist. And when the day comes that all these equal rights problems have been solved, the Negro will have attained the goal of freedom he seeks.

The local communities and the state that are fighting the equal rights movement cannot and will not win. They are only adding to their defeat a reputation and a name that will haunt them for a long time in the future. They are throwing away the opportunity to finally rid themselves of the segregation albatross that has hung around their necks for generations. If there is any error in the Negro marching issue, there is much greater error on the side of a social, economic and political order that has forced such action.

Holding The Line

The current week is of unusual interest to three quarters of a million American girls, to far more parents and to the country at large.

It is the week set aside for the observance of the 53rd birthday of the Girls Scouts of America. It began March 7, will end after March 13.

Scouting occupies the attention of girls from the age of 7 when they enter the program as Brownies, through the stages of Juniors and Cadets, to the Senior level which ends at the age of 17. The theme of this year's observance has to do with bridging the gaps within the organization's own age groups, which is a way of saying that the organization is emphasizing the continuum of its principles and practices. But this is a matter of internal mechanics. What the public is interested in is why do the Girl Scouts exist. How essential is the organization?

In our opinion its existence is mandatory if future Americans are to continue in the character of past Americans. The Girl Scouts emphasize those American traits that have always been considered most noble and most desirable—loyalty, courtesy, cheerfulness, usefulness and thrift. These are abstractions. They must be taught and learned. If they are not then our society will become something else. They are actually the qualities that have improved Americans and they illustrate the traits we all aspire to.

The increase in population and the urbanization of the country provides a challenge to home training. They require added emphasis on the desirable practices to prevent their deterioration. Fortunately, as social changes occurred, the nation was able to bring forth such a youth organization that now helps to hold the social equation in balance. We are very fortunate to have a thriving Girl Scout organization And it is formidable to think what might have been the consequences had no such organization been founded.

On Second Thought

In 1959 90 per cent of eligible voters decided to organize a 92,000 acre conservancy and flood control district in Gage and Jefferson counties.

The organization followed usual lines, providing for a local watershed levy for district funds to match, on an approximate 50-50 basis, the federal funds provided under P.L. 566. The purpose is flood control of the Cub Creek watershed. This is a substantial drainage area running through sizeable portions of Gage and Jefferson counties before it empties into the Blue River.

Preliminiary planning has been carried forward for some time by federal engineers based at Fairbury and now the almost $2.5 million project is about ready for the dirt moving stage. No material control installations are planned for Cub Creek itself, but several rather large reservoirs are planned for the Cub Creek tributaries. That seems to be the hitch. An important flood control undertaking in southeast Nebraska may go out of business before a drop of water is conserved. Sufficient signatures have been obtained to require a referendum on the dissolution of the district.

An outsider gets the idea from this undertaking that flood control by collective effort always has a weakness. Everyone is for it on some one else's farm. But no one wants to lose a single acre. That was the issue prior to the construction of the great Tuttle Creek impoundment on the Blue River near Manhattan, Kansas. The bottom land owners fought to a finish.

It was the same story in Western Nebraska before Lake McConnaughy was constructed. But sound reclamation has a way of persevering and the complaints are always forgotten once the improvement is in effect. The gains always greatly offset the losses.

BOB CONSIDINE

Viet Nam Is Real, An Important War

HONOLULU—A bloke gets a clearer view of the war in Viet Nam when he's 5,000 miles closer to it than his customary observation post on the east coast of the U.S. of A., the post with wall-to-wall ivory.

A constant stream of war hardware is passing through Hickam Field, Pearl Harbor and Schofield Barracks these days. The men involved are as dead game and serious about our undeclared conflict in Southeast Asia as were their predecessors in the bloody midst of World War II and the awful business in Korea.

If there is any such animal as an Average American Serviceman out this way (and there is, of course), he is confronting the rest of us with some pretty pointed questions. To wit:

"What's the matter with you jokers on the mainland? Don't you know there's a war on?

"Does anybody back there know what he's talking about when he suggests that we just pull up stakes and get the hell out of Viet Nam? If we walked out, brother, the Chinese would walk in the next day. By the millions, Bub. Like locusts. If we're going to fight them one of these years, or generations, and you can be damn certain we will, you want to fight them from the West Coast or from the places where we're holding them now"?

When the Marines go in to beef up the protection of our positions in South Viet Nam, they are not going to ask permission of whoever is in charge at Saigon that day if it would be okay to clobber the Viet Cong group approaching with the mortars and plastic bombs. Our Army people feel the same way. The Navy has already indicated what it can and will do if messed around with and more. The Air Force is now mounting an operation which involves the use of weapons systems undreamed of six months ago, including 1,400 m.p.h. Republic F-105S each able to carry and drop a much greater load of conventional bombs than the heavy bombers of World War II.

Nobody here speaks of Viet Nam as a brush-fire war, or "Police Action." Rather, it is looked upon as a war involving directly or indirectly a colossal number of friends and foes spread over incredible distances. You could drop three United States' into the Pacific and they'd barely bridge the water between California and Viet Nam. The thin defense line we're maintaining from northern Japan down to where the cheese binds in Viet Nam stretches 4,000 miles. Our pledged allies in Asia number 227,000,000; our enemies and the flaccid neutrals, seven times that many.

The feeling around here is that in any fight you'd better be real good and real ready if you're outnumbered seven to one.

Americans Lucky

Lincoln, Neb.

The American people are very fortunate that we live in a democracy and do not know tyranny. A Cuban organization of Miami, Florida, has had a report published entitled "Can This Happen To The Americas?" which reveals what has actually happened in Cuba since the communists took over.

As excerpts from the report state, when communism takes over, you helplessly witness how all industries, business, and centers of production are confiscated and how your country is hurled into chaos and ruin. You feel defenseless and confused. News media, controlled by the state, separate you from the truth. Your home is invaded by Marxist slogans. A campaign is unleashed against democracy, against society, against free enterprise, all expressed in slogans against the United States, and you find yourself forced to take part in it.

A police rule of assault and terror is enforced to keep you in bondage. The political police persecute you and you live in a constant state of intense panic.

You have to helplessly watch how the minds and souls of your children are poisoned. Using educational reform as a pretext, your children receive only communist indoctrination, and the child is converted into a spy to inform against parents. Because religious beliefs and believers are persecuted and church congregations are harassed, you don't dare to enter a church, as you fear the consequences.

Everyone who enters or leaves your home is watched and reported. You cannot take anything in or out of your home without permission. If you protest, you will be continually subject to arrest in your home, arrested by a group of men at any time or day or night. Once you are classified as "counter-revolutionary," your most harmless and innocent acts are labeled as crimes against the state.

Charter Flights Economic Way To Travel To Faraway Places

By ROBERT PETERSON

The scene from my hotel balcony in Rio de Janeiro is straight out of the travel posters. The sapphire sea is shimmering in the sun of Brazil's midsummer.

Sugarloaf Mountain juts majestically a thousand feet into the cloudless sky. And the crescent of Copacabana Beach lies like a great ivory necklace against the bosom of a thousand hotels and apartment buildings.

Flying down to Rio was once a gambit of the rich. But thanks to the economies of jet charter some 150 members of the Rotary Club, to which I belong, have just made the nonstop 4,000 mile trip for a mere $380 each, round trip.

Charter flights are a big item in international travel. Students and youthful vacationers dominate these flights during June, July and August. But the rest of the year they include many retired men and women with the time and inclination to see faraway places.

Seniors are often apathetic or wary about traveling alone. But group travel with friends — at charter rates—has great appeal.

Charter flights operate under regulations of the International Air Transport Association, composed of representatives of 93 air carriers. This association sets minimum rate patterns and tries to see that charter flights don't compete unfairly with regular commercial flights.

One way they accomplish this is to insist that only club members of at least six-month standing, and their immediate families, are eligible.

How much does it cost to charter a plane? It depends on the type of aircraft you want and where you're going. A big jet with 154 seats can be chartered from New York to London for about $27,000, round trip. If the group can fill all the seats the cost comes out to about $180 roundtrip—well under the lowest rates on scheduled flights.

If you and fellow members of your Sewing Circle or Cozy Culture Club harbor suppressed desires to see Paris, Prague, or Papeete, check directly with the charter department of any international air carrier and see what kind of deal they may make you.

Getting back to Brazil, let me say that this fifth largest nation on earth has vast potentials. But it has a long ways to go in utilizing its rich resources of labor and raw materials.

Take handicrafts. Tourists come with money jingling in their pockets—eager to buy unusual native arts and crafts—only to find little from which to choose.

About the only eye-catching products here are (a) jewelry set with Brazilian semi-precious gems, (b) pictures made of vivid, iridescent butterfly wings, and (c) primitive wooden carvings. Most other items on sale in gift and souvenir shops are routine import items from the Orient and elsewhere.

Brazil could use someone with taste and imagination, such as Ohio born Ed Kreisler, an ex-department store buyer, who went to Spain 10 years ago and was hired by the government to inject new vigor in arts and crafts. Kreisler put the finest in Spanish handicrafts on official display and then patiently encouraged artists and craftsmen to upgrade skills, diversify output and create new and novel products appealing to foreign visitors.

Today Spanish handicrafts are an important factor in that nation's expanding economy.

Earmarked Cigarette Tax Increase Is Advanced

The Nebraska Legislature's cigarette tax increase bill, with its fund earmarking provisions intact, moved a step nearer final passage Monday.

The measure, LB26, introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, was advanced routinely from select file on a voice vote. Select file is the middle point in floor consideration of a bill, with final passage the next normal step.

There were weekend indications that a new fight was developing over the bill's provisions that the more than $3 million a year to be realized from a two cent-per-package increase in the cigarette tax be earmarked solely for educational television, access roads to recreation areas, and Game Commission use to match federal funds newly avilable for park and recreation area development.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings disclosed last week he was so upset by the earmarking action that he considered resigning from chairmanship of the Budget Committee.

Earmarking of revenue has the effect of bypassing the Budget Committee.

It had been expected that an amendment to eliminate the earmarking would be proposed Monday, possibly by Sen. Richard Lysinger of Ravenna, but it wasn't.

"I haven't given up the idea of trying to amend LB26 to improve the distribution of the money," Lysinger told a newsman afterwards. "I let it go by the boards today because I need more time to study it."

The Legislature had given strong approval to the cigarette tax earmarking although it later turned down proposals to earmark revenue from a beer tax increase.

Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance, vice chairman of the Budget Committee, has led the battle for earmarking of cigarette funds.

Sen. Lysinger arose on a point of personal privilege Monday and said he wanted to apologize to Sen. Gerdes if any of Lysinger's published statements last week gave the impression that Gerdes had acted improperly in any way. Lysinger said he and Gerdes are good friends although they differ at times on legislative issues.

Sen. Gerdes accepted the apology and said "this has been a very sorry situation."

Hearing Is Reset On Loup, Platte Directors Election

A public hearing on petitions to require the Loup Public Power District and the Platte Valley Irrigation District to elect their boards of directors on a statewide basis has been continued, State Water Resources Director Dan Jones reported Monday.

The hearing, originally set for Monday, was rescheduled for March 29 at the request of the Platte Valley district.

The Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative of Columbus filed the petitions last October. The hearing will be held to determine if the Loup and Platte districts operate in more than 50 counties, and if so, whether they should be required to hold board elections on a statewide basis.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Charter Flights Economic Way To Travel To Faraway Places

By ROBERT PETERSON

The scene from my hotel balcony in Rio de Janeiro is straight out of the travel posters. The sapphire sea is shimmering in the sun of Brazil's midsummer.

Sugarloaf Mountain juts majestically a thousand feet into the cloudless sky. And the crescent of Copacabana Beach lies like a great ivory necklace against the bosom of a thousand hotels and apartment buildings.

Flying down to Rio was once a gambit of the rich. But thanks to the economies of jet charter some 150 members of the Rotary Club, to which I belong, have just made the nonstop 4,000 mile trip for a mere $380 each, round trip.

Charter flights are a big item in international travel. Students and youthful vacationers dominate these flights during June, July and August. But the rest of the year they include many retired men and women with the time and inclination to see faraway places.

Seniors are often apathetic or wary about traveling alone. But group travel with friends — at charter rates—has great appeal.

Charter flights operate under regulations of the International Air Transport Association, composed of representatives of 93 air carriers. This association sets minimum rate patterns and tries to see that charter flights don't compete unfairly with regular commercial flights.

One way they accomplish this is to insist that only club members of at least six-month standing, and their immediate families, are eligible.

How much does it cost to charter a plane? It depends on the type of aircraft you want and where you're going. A big jet with 154 seats can be chartered from New York to London for about $27,000, round trip. If the group can fill all the seats the cost comes out to about $180 roundtrip—well under the lowest rates on scheduled flights.

If you and fellow members of your Sewing Circle or Cozy Culture Club harbor suppressed desires to see Paris, Prague, or Papeete, check directly with the charter department of any international air carrier and see what kind of deal they may make you.

Getting back to Brazil, let me say that this fifth largest nation on earth has vast potentials. But it has a long ways to go in utilizing its rich resources of labor and raw materials.

Take handicrafts. Tourists come with money jingling in their pockets—eager to buy unusual native arts and crafts—only to find little from which to choose.

About the only eye-catching products here are (a) jewelry set with Brazilian semi-precious gems, (b) pictures made of vivid, iridescent butterfly wings, and (c) primitive wooden carvings. Most other items on sale in gift and souvenir shops are routine import items from the Orient and elsewhere.

Brazil could use someone with taste and imagination, such as Ohio born Ed Kreisler, an ex-department store buyer, who went to Spain 10 years ago and was hired by the government to inject new vigor in arts and crafts. Kreisler put the finest in Spanish handicrafts on official display and then patiently encouraged artists and craftsmen to upgrade skills, diversify output and create new and novel products appealing to foreign visitors.

Today Spanish handicrafts are an important factor in that nation's expanding economy.

Earmarked Cigarette Tax Increase Is Advanced

The Nebraska Legislature's cigarette tax increase bill, with its fund earmarking provisions intact, moved a step nearer final passage Monday.

The measure, LB26, introduced by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, was advanced routinely from select file on a voice vote. Select file is the middle point in floor consideration of a bill, with final passage the next normal step.

There were weekend indications that a new fight was developing over the bill's provisions that the more than $3 million a year to be realized from a two cent-per-package increase in the cigarette tax be earmarked solely for educational television, access roads to recreation areas, and Game Commission use to match federal funds newly avilable for park and recreation area development.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings disclosed last week he was so upset by the earmarking action that he considered resigning from chairmanship of the Budget Committee.

Earmarking of revenue has the effect of bypassing the Budget Committee.

It had been expected that an amendment to eliminate the earmarking would be proposed Monday, possibly by Sen. Richard Lysinger of Ravenna, but it wasn't.

"I haven't given up the idea of trying to amend LB26 to improve the distribution of the money," Lysinger told a newsman afterwards. "I let it go by the boards today because I need more time to study it."

The Legislature had given strong approval to the cigarette tax earmarking although it later turned down proposals to earmark revenue from a beer tax increase.

Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance, vice chairman of the Budget Committee, has led the battle for earmarking of cigarette funds.

Sen. Lysinger arose on a point of personal privilege Monday and said he wanted to apologize to Sen. Gerdes if any of Lysinger's published statements last week gave the impression that Gerdes had acted improperly in any way. Lysinger said he and Gerdes are good friends although they differ at times on legislative issues.

Sen. Gerdes accepted the apology and said "this has been a very sorry situation."

Hearing Is Reset On Loup, Platte Directors Election

A public hearing on petitions to require the Loup Public Power District and the Platte Valley Irrigation District to elect their boards of directors on a statewide basis has been continued, State Water Resources Director Dan Jones reported Monday.

The hearing, originally set for Monday, was rescheduled for March 29 at the request of the Platte Valley district.

The Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative of Columbus filed the petitions last October. The hearing will be held to determine if the Loup and Platte districts operate in more than 50 counties, and if so, whether they should be required to hold board elections on a statewide basis.

State Tax Would Be About 2% Of Income Under LB797

Individual Nebraska taxpayers may determine the approximate state income tax they would pay under LB797 by multiplying 2% times their "total income" (as listed on Line 9 of Internal Revnue Service Form 1040) minus exemptions.

Line 9 actually represents "adjusted gross income" as defined in the Internal Revenue Code, Sen. Hal Bauer of Lincoln noted.

The 2% figure is the approximate amount of the state levy which would be necessary to replace the state's property tax take, he said.

The state would be removed from the property tax field, both tangible and intangible, if the bill were enacted. The state property tax levy is currently 9.14 mills, while the state now shares in one-sixth of the revenue derived from taxation of intangible property.

$45 Million

A 2% state income tax rate would raise about $45 million annually.

LB797 provides for:

A $600 exemption on separate returns, and a $1,200 on joint returns plus additional exemptions for those over age 65.

—a flexible tax rate which will vary with the amount of legislative appropriations established annually by the State Board of Equalization and Assessment. Procedures for establishing the rate would be identical to those now used in setting the property tax levy.

—withholding by employers, a convenience to the wage earner, and one which affords the state with a source of income throughout the year.

Corporations' Tax

—taxation of corporations on income earned in Nebraska, while permitting small business corporations to elect to be taxed as partnerships.

—taxation of non-residents on income earned in Nebraska and residents on all earned income, but permits reciprocity arrangements with other states.

Bauer believes the tax would "increase controls over spending at the state level since the citizens and firms paying an income tax will be greater in number and probably more vocal than property owners."

Further, according to the Lincoln lawmaker, LB797 "meets all criteria of a sound tax system: fairness or equity, widespread participation, certainty, convenience, ease and economy of administration, and flexibility."

The bill, he said, avoids "the regressiveness and exemption difficulties of a sales tax, and the omission from state tax responsibilities of the citizens of Nebraska as would occur if either 'taxable income' or 'federal tax paid' were used as a base" for a state income tax.

Nearly Everybody

Almost everyone, Bauer noted, will pay some tax.

Further, he said, it "avoids the possible adverse impact on incentive which might occur if a progressive state tax is added to an already highly progressive federal income tax."

The taxpayer, he said, would be able to prepare his return in a matter of minutes.

The broad application of the tax, Bauer declared, will permit "a low rate that should be politically acceptable."

Returns would be due each April 15.

Bill Calling For State 'FBI' Killed

The State Legislature Monday dealt the fatal blow to a bill calling for a Nebraska bureau of criminal investigation, a sort of FBI on the state level.

The measure, LB53, was killed 32-12 after two "compromise" amendments to the bill also were defeated.

LB53, introduced chiefly by Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, had a rocky ride in the Unicameral.

Originally killed by the Judiciary Committee on a 5-3 vote, Sen. Bowen spearheaded a drive which resulted in the measure being successfully revived on the floor. At least three amendments to the bill were proposed and rejected before the measure finally was laid to rest.

Senators who spoke in opposition to establishment of a state bureau of investigation generally felt the proposed NBI would duplicate services now provided by the State Safety Patrol.

That was the stand taken by State Safety Patrol Chief Dan Casey when he opposed the bill at the public hearing before the Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth submitted an amendment to the bill which he said would clearly spell out the responsibilities of the NBI and would call for the cooperation of both agencies to prevent duplication.

Under his proposal, the NBI would be under the direction of the attorney general, as called for in the original bill, but the NBI would be required to use the Safety Patrol facilities now available. The amendment was rejected 14-26.

Also rejected was an Omaha Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. amendment which called for placement of the present Safety Patrol criminal investigation division under the control of the attorney general.

Sen. Frank Nelson's kill motion then was approved. Voting against killing the bill were Sens. Bauer, Bowen, Carstens, Hughes, Kjar, Kremer, Mahoney, Matzke, Paxton, Pedersen, Proud and E. Rasmussen.

School Dropout Report Bill OKd

The state commissioner of education would have access to information on school dropouts in Nebraska under a measure passed on final reading in the State Legislature Monday.

Other bills passed Monday (E—emergency clause):

LB89—Permitting custodians of funds under the gifts to minors act to place such funds in building and loan associations. (Payne, Mahoney, Skarda) (48-0).

LB298—Permitting the Supreme Court to authorize the state librarian to dispose of volumes of session laws and journals over 10 years old, and superseded volumes of statutes. (Bauer) (E) (49-0).

Two Major Railroads 'All-Clear'

. . . ICC ALLOWS MISSOURI PACIFIC CONTROL

Chicago (AP)—The Interstate ommerce Commission gave order in Washington Mon- y which, almost literally, ll change signals from go- ow to all-clear for two ma- r rail systems between Chi- go and the South and South- est.

The order will permit the ,500-mile Missouri Pacific ailroad to take control of the 2-mile Chicago & Eastern llinois Railroad.

Direct Competitor

Ruled out of the C & EI pic- ture was the 6,500-mile Illi- nois Central Railroad, the C & EI's powerful direct competi- tor for business between Chi- cago and the Ohio River.

The Illinois Central operates its own direct line between Chicago and New Orleans through Cairo, Ill., which is a few miles downstream on the Ohio River from the C & EI's Evansville terminal.

The ICC decision is a blow to the Illinois Central in that it should logically establish greatly increased competition for a heavy freight tonnage now moving over Central's tracks.

No Outward Change

A C & EI source said in discussing the ICC order that its outward effect will not be marked, since the C & EI en- tity may have to be main- tained to accommodate both the MoPac and the L&N direct access to Chicago. Both would have to use the same 81 miles of double tracked C & EI right of way immediately south of Chicago.

Both the L&N and the Mo-Pac now use C&EI tracks to move their cars into Chicago, and this traffic will in effect, be streamlined, mainly through rescheduling trains to better fit their requirements.

Service will be faster to L&N's port terminal facilities mainly through rescheduling trains to better fit their re- quirements.

Services Faster

Service will be faster to L&N's port terminal facilities at New Orleans, Mobile, and Pensacola, on the Gulf, not to mention intermediate points. Similarly, the MoPac's Chica- go five east Gulf ports serv- ice will be speeded along with that to points on its big net- work through the south-central Great Plains area.

The MoPac serves such widely spread out centers as Kansas City; Pueblo, Colo.; El Paso, Tex., and all ports along the Gulf between New Orleans and the Mexican bor- der. The vital link on which it would cease to be a tenant and become the landlord is that from its St. Louis Termi- nal to Chicago.

Although President David O. Matthews of the C&EI said he believes the L&N participation would have to be negotiated on the basis of a lease ar- rangement, it appeared that the C&EI might lose its iden- tity along the line it presently serves between the junction at Woodland, Ill., and Evans- ville to the L&N.

COMMANDER

Brig. Gen. Frederick J. Karch of Carmi, Ill., is com- mander of the 9th Marine Expeditionary Force whose units have landed to guard Da Nang Air Base in South Viet Nam.

Appeal Filed In Taylor Tax Complaint

An appeal was filed in the Nebraska Supreme Court Monday involving the refusal of a Taylor rancher to supply the state tax commissioner with information about intan- gible properties.

The appeal was brought by the state and asks reversal of an earlier Loup County Dis- trict Court order which threw out a complaint against Ev- erett Satterfield.

The complaint, charging Satterfield with a misdemean- or, was brought after Satter- field allegedly refused to an- swer questions or produce records about his intangible property.

Tax Commissioner George Dwroak wants a final deter- mination of the case so his office might know how to pro- ceed in similar cases that could come up in the future.

Satterfield is also involved in another tax case, and has been ordered by the district court to answer questions about his personal property holdings or be held in con- tempt of court.

In this case, he has peti- tioned the court to issue an injunction to block the state from issuing a distress war- rant setting a value on his property and fixing the tax.

86% Of School Bus Crashes Avoidable, State Study Shows

A year and a half study of school bus accidents, released Monday, said that 86.6% of the accidents could have been prevented by the drivers in- volved.

The joint study by the State Roads Department and Acci- dent Records Bureau showed that school buses were in- volved in 75 accidents from Jan. 1, 1963, through June 30, 1964.

There were two fatalities and 27 injuries.

Of the accidents blamed on drivers. the report attributed 60.6% of the mishaps to the bus driver, 15.4% to both driv- ers and 24% to the other mo- torist.

"The school bus driver, through accepted driving be- havior, could have avoided 76% of these accidents," the report said.

Of the errors committed by the bus drivers, more than half were attributed to "poor judgment." About one-fourth were blamed on inability to control the bus.

Eight per cent of the total number of accidents were caused by improper main- tenance, the report contended. Two out of three times the bus was at fault.

Governor To Seek Private Financing For Study Of Year-Round Schools

Gov. Frank Morrison said Monday funds from a private foundation would be sought to study his proposal that Ne- braska schools operate the year-round.

Morrison said Dr. Dale Hayes of the University of Ne- braska Teachers College has been instructed to "apply im- mediately for funds to study the plan."

Cost of the study is esti- mated at $50,000 and would be carried out by the Teachers College.

The governor said he hopes the "feasibility and implemen- tation" study can be finished in time for presentation to the 1967 Legislature.

He said he knew of no other state which now operates on a 12-month basis with students having the option of attending classes for three quarters of the whole year as he has sug- gested for Nebraska.

Greater use of school build- ings has been urged by the governor as a method of hold- ing educational costs in the face of an exploding student enrollment.

2 School Reorganization Bills Axed

Two bills which would have ffected school district reor- anization were axed by the egislature's Educatom Com- ittee Monday.

One of the measures, B818, would have required hat a school district reorgan- zation plan be approved by 5% of the voters, rather than he present 50%.

The other bill, LB817, would ave eliminated the Jan. 1, 1966, deadline for county re- organization committees to submit reorganization plans to the State School District Re- organization Committee.

Opponents of the bill, both of which were introduced by Sen. William Wylie of Elgin, claimed the measures would retard, rather than hasten, school district reorganization.

Also killed by the commit- tee were:

LB313, classifying schools to make elementary schools sixth grade and below; sec- ondary schools grades seven through 12; and extending free tutitions to 7th and 8th graders.

LB448, revising provisions for transfer of land from one school district to another, and eliminating transfers based on accreditation.

The committee advanced LB318, which would provide that teachers whose contracts are terminated by school boards shall be given reasons in writing.

Held for further study after receiving testimony was LB- 450, which would revise the provisions for one school dis- trict contracting with another for instruction of pupils.

Bliss Succeeded

Columbus, Ohio (AP)—Lucas County Chairman John An- drews was elected as new Ohio Republican chairman to succeed Ray C. Bliss, who re- signed to become national chairman.

Two Retirement Bills Heard, Held

The Legislature's Budget Committee Monday heard testimony but deferred action on two bills dealing with the State Employes Retirement Act.

Held for further study were:

LB559, introduced by Ply- mouth Sen. Arnold Ruhnke and others, which would elim- inate the Nebraska National Guard Air and Army techni- cians from the provisions of the State Retirement Act.

LB717, introduced by Sens. W. H. Hasebroock of West Point and Hal W. Bauer of Lincoln, would revise State Employes' Retirement Sys- tem to provide for funding prior service benefits out of the fund from which employes are paid.

Minimum Wage Bill Revival Asked

Omaha Sen. William F. Skarda Jr. moved on the leg- islative floor Monday to re- vive his minimum wage bill, killed last week on a 5-3 vote of the Labor Committee.

Action on the motion was deferred.

The measure, LB380, would have set a $1 per hour mini- mum wage for most workers in the state, but would have excluded agricultural and do- mestic workers, apprentices and those now paid through tips.

Lawmakers approved the request of Sen. Ira Paine of Grand Island to withdraw his LB454, which would have authorized first class cities to deposit funds in qualified banks throughout the state, not simply in the home county.

City Council Continues Lively Debate On Liquor Policies

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

A move to reconsider last week's action on a proposed transfer of a liquor license to the South St. area failed Monday as City Council members continued a lively debate over the council's consistency regarding its liquor expansion policy.

Voting last week, 4-3, to deny the application of Floyd and Virginia Watts for the transfer of their package liquor license from 2105 O to 17th and South were Mrs. Helen Boosalis, Lloyd Hinkley, John Comstock and Mayor Dean Petersen.

A motion to reconsider previous action can only be made by members voting in the majority.

Attorney Cecil Parker, representing the Wattses, said a reconsideration was being requested so that the Wattses could "maintain their priority." The Wattes were the first of recent applicants for transfer to the South St. area.

Parker said that "a monopoly now exists on South St. that courts will not allow for long."

The council opened South St. to liquor and beer outlets and should not arbitrarily deny all other applications for transfer, Parker argued.

The only package liquor licensee now operating in the South St. area is LeRoy Baughan, at 2100 So. 16th.

Following the refusal of Mrs. Boosalis, Comstock or Hinkley to move to reconsider the Wattes' request, Councilman John Mason said that he felt the council was "divesting ourselves of any control over the liquor situation."

No Rationale

"There is no rationale to our action. We are backing off of our policy resolution and saying in effect that we have no policy," he continued.

Comstock replied that "if our resolution means that any dealer can move out into any location we open up, the council will have no control whatever. We have to consider other factors—traffic problems and the proximity of liquor stores to hospitals and schools."

Mason maintained that the council is not being consistent with its liquor and beer expansion policy, which he said was set up "for the protection and convenience of the public." He suggested that perhaps the council should act positively to limit the number of licenses in any one area.

Edward Becker agreed, saying, "I don't see why we set up a district and then allow only one license to operate there."

Mrs. Boosalis suggested bringing all the licenses back to the downtown area as a means to avoid being discriminatory.

Review Sought

Mason again pressed for a thorough review of the council's policy and suggested that the mayor appoint a committee for the study. Council members then debated over who should serve on the committee.

Petersen said that a committee would be appointed.

In other action concerning liquor and beer licenses, the council, by a 4-3 vote, recommended the addition of the name of LeRoy D. Baughan to the package liquor license held by LeRoy T. and Roma Baughan at 2100 So. 16th.

Petersen broke a tie vote, joining Mason, Becker and Comstock in voting for the recommendation.

The council also set March 15 as the hearing date for the application of Mitch Tavlin for a package liquor license at 1244 South St., the application of Ralph and Donna Beccard for an off-sale beer license at 208 So. 18th, and the applications of Commercial Enterprises, Inc., and the Steak House, Inc., for bottle club licenses.

Council Delays Action On Auto Salvage Yard

The City Council has postponed action for a week on Woodrow Brinkman's request for a special permit to use land at 1st and L for an auto salvage yard.

Council members indicated they want an opinion from the city legal department on whether the city can legally enforce an agreement with Brinkman calling for automatic revocation of the permit when the city decides to acquire right-of-way for the proposed K St. Viaduct.

The City-County Planning Commission had recommended approval of the permit conditioned on such an agreement.

Brinkman has promised, provided the permit is granted, to move his salvage operations when work on the viaduct begins.

Attorney H. B. Evnen, representing property owners in the area, and Irvin Bukin, manager of Arrow Trailer Sales, appeared in opposition to the request.

Plat Approved

The council also passed, in amended form, an ordinance approving the plat of Pine Lake second addition.

Under the agreement, the city, by executive order, will have the right to enter and cause proper operation of the systems, assessing abutting property owners for the costs.

Deputy City Atty. Henry Holst told the council that in the opinion of the legal department, the city has the authority to require a subdivider to put up a performance bond for the continued operation of a sewer and water system in a subdivision within three miles of the city.

No Authority

Holst said the city does not have the authority to prevent nuisances within three miles of the corporate limits, nor can the mayor enforce city health ordinances within five miles of Lincoln.

In other action, the council passed again, over the mayor's veto, a resolution granting a variance in rear yard requirements for property at 4012 E, owned by Gordon Andresen.

Other ordinances acted upon:

Introduced, First Reading
—Vacating all streets and alleys included within North Park addition, located in the vicinity of 14th and Superior.

Second Reading
—Creating water district No. 667, A, 70th to 84th.

MARINES DIG IN METHODICALLY

Da Nang, Viet Nam (AP)—Two battalions of U.S. Marines, newly landed by sea and air, dug in methodically Monday night to reinforce defenses of the Da Nang Air Base. The muzzles of recoilless rifles and machine guns bristled from their lines.

A single sniper's bullet symbolized communist objections to the buildup of American forces at the base, a key installation for strikes against both the Viet Cong and North Viet Nam.

Reds Criticize

Abroad, however, there was a barrage of criticism from Communist quarters. And some non-Communists, including leaders of the left wing of Britain's ruling Labor Party, joined in the outcry.

In a typical comment, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia charged that the landings were "a new phase of the aggressive policy of the U.S.A. in South Viet Nam" that showed Washington has decided to widen the war.

In the Da Nang landings, the weather proved to be more of an annoyance than enemy action. Low clouds cut visibility of the C130 pilots. Heavy surf churned the beaches where Marines, tanks and artillery streamed ashore from landing craft.

Six Injured

Six of the Marines were reported injured. Two suffered broken legs and ribs of another were crushed. One had a head cut, one a cut knee and another was burned while refueling a vehicle.

About 3,500 men, all from the 3rd Marine Division on Okinawa, were involved in the movement, which is expected to be completed Tuesday. It was estimated 2,500 were on hand by dusk.

Already on duty in the northern zone of South Viet Nam were about 1,200 Marines. One battalion mans the Hawk antiaircraft missiles supplementing the fighter jets based at Da Nang.

1,000-Foot Hill

It is reported some of the Hawks and some of the newly arrived Marines will move to a 1,000-foot-high hill four miles west of the runway to plug a possible breach in the security system.

BCo., 1st Battalion, 3rd Marine Regiment, was set for what might come at the south end of the air base.

Despite the full-cocked appearance of the helmeted Marines outside their pup tents, they were pretty well guarded by Vietnamese government soldiers manning outposts and ambush positions outside the base perimeter.

'Just A Rat'

As night settled, a land mine planted by the Vietnamese army months ago went off about 500 yards from the company.

In keeping with orders when combat is not considered imminent, most of the Marines did not have ammunition in their weapons. One who had a clip in his M14 rifle was told by an officer:

"Get that damned ammunition out of there."

The ground rules appeared somewhat vague. But the battalion commander, Lt. Col. Herbert J. Bain, said his men were ready to tackle anything.

Comstock For Quick Action On Crossing

City Councilman John Comstock Monday urged that immediate action be taken to acquire signals for the Missouri Pacific Railroad crossing on No. 66th, where a woman and her daughter were killed last December.

Comstock said another serious accident nearly occurred there Sunday.

Missouri Pacific and state officials have conferred on signalization of the crossing, according to City Traffic Engineer Robert Holsinger. He said that the state will pay 60% of the cost and that the city might contribute 40%, although not required to do so.

Comstock said that maybe a flagman should be used at the crossing until the signals are operating.

Guest Teacher At UC Likes Living Here

"We like America very much once we got used to the little matters—like cars on the wrong side of the road," says Noel P. Clapham of 5215 Meredith, guest history instructor at Union College.

Clapham, a New Zealander who lives in Australia, is in Lincoln because of a teacher exchange program between Union and Ivondale College near Newcastle, Australia.

Besides teaching, Clapham is doing graduate work at the University of Nebraska. He said he likes the University very much and calls it a "very interesting place." However, Clapham thinks there is overcrowding of classes in certain areas, but hastened to add that some colleges in Australia are also overcrowded.

"As a city," commented Clapham, "I like Lincoln very much. The seasons are much more severe because in Australia we never saw snow."

He said that he is also very conscious of being away from the surf since Ivondale is only 20 miles from the ocean.

City Council Continues Lively Debate On Liquor Policies

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

A move to reconsider last week's action on a proposed transfer of a liquor license to the South St. area failed Monday as City Council members continued a lively debate over the council's consistency regarding its liquor expansion policy.

Voting last week, 4-3, to deny the application of Floyd and Virginia Watts for the transfer of their package liquor license from 2105 O to 17th and South were Mrs. Helen Boosalis, Lloyd Hinkley, John Comstock and Mayor Dean Petersen.

A motion to reconsider previous action can only be made by members voting in the majority.

Attorney Cecil Parker, representing the Wattses, said a reconsideration was being requested so that the Wattses could "maintain their priority." The Wattes were the first of recent applicants for transfer to the South St. area.

Parker said that "a monopoly now exists on South St. that courts will not allow for long."

The council opened South St. to liquor and beer outlets and should not arbitrarily deny all other applications for transfer, Parker argued.

The only package liquor licensee now operating in the South St. area is LeRoy Baughan, at 2100 So. 16th.

Following the refusal of Mrs. Boosalis, Comstock or Hinkley to move to reconsider the Wattes' request, Councilman John Mason said that he felt the council was "divesting ourselves of any control over the liquor situation."

No Rationale

"There is no rationale to our action. We are backing off of our policy resolution and saying in effect that we have no policy," he continued.

Comstock replied that "if our resolution means that any dealer can move out into any location we open up, the council will have no control whatever. We have to consider other factors—traffic problems and the proximity of liquor stores to hospitals and schools."

Mason maintained that the council is not being consistent with its liquor and beer expansion policy, which he said was set up "for the protection and convenience of the public." He suggested that perhaps the council should act positively to limit the number of licenses in any one area.

Edward Becker agreed, saying, "I don't see why we set up a district and then allow only one license to operate there."

Mrs. Boosalis suggested bringing all the licenses back to the downtown area as a means to avoid being discriminatory.

Review Sought

Mason again pressed for a thorough review of the council's policy and suggested that the mayor appoint a committee for the study. Council members then debated over who should serve on the committee.

Petersen said that a committee would be appointed.

In other action concerning liquor and beer licenses, the council, by a 4-3 vote, recommended the addition of the name of LeRoy D. Baughan to the package liquor license held by LeRoy T. and Roma Baughan at 2100 So. 16th.

Petersen broke a tie vote, joining Mason, Becker and Comstock in voting for the recommendation.

The council also set March 15 as the hearing date for the application of Mitch Tavlin for a package liquor license at 1244 South St., the application of Ralph and Donna Beccard for an off-sale beer license at 208 So. 18th, and the applications of Commercial Enterprises, Inc., and the Steak House, Inc., for bottle club licenses.

Council Delays Action On Auto Salvage Yard

The City Council has postponed action for a week on Woodrow Brinkman's request for a special permit to use land at 1st and L for an auto salvage yard.

Council members indicated they want an opinion from the city legal department on whether the city can legally enforce an agreement with Brinkman calling for automatic revocation of the permit when the city decides to acquire right-of-way for the proposed K St. Viaduct.

The City-County Planning Commission had recommended approval of the permit conditioned on such an agreement.

Brinkman has promised, provided the permit is granted, to move his salvage operations when work on the viaduct begins.

Attorney H. B. Evnen, representing property owners in the area, and Irvin Bukin, manager of Arrow Trailer Sales, appeared in opposition to the request.

Plat Approved

The council also passed, in amended form, an ordinance approving the plat of Pine Lake second addition.

Under the agreement, the city, by executive order, will have the right to enter and cause proper operation of the systems, assessing abutting property owners for the costs.

Deputy City Atty. Henry Holst told the council that in the opinion of the legal department, the city has the authority to require a subdivider to put up a performance bond for the continued operation of a sewer and water system in a subdivision within three miles of the city.

No Authority

Holst said the city does not have the authority to prevent nuisances within three miles of the corporate limits, nor can the mayor enforce city health ordinances within five miles of Lincoln.

'Shame On You, George Wallace'

. . . CRIES SEN. YARBOROUGH

Washington (UPI)—A Southern Senator said Monday that police action against Negro civil rights marchers in Alabama will hurt the United States more "than losing two battles in Viet Nam."

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said in an emotion-filled Senate speech that Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace "needs to atone for the shame he has brought to Alabama and to my own great southland."

"We cannot win the war for liberty and democracy and freedom of opportunity around the world by losing it at home," Yarborough said. "Every lash of a bullwhip on human flesh in Alabama will cost us in treasure and likely in blood all around the world."

"Shame on you, George Wallace!" Yarborough cried.

Federal Intervention

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., said the "need for federal action is urgent . . . to prevent further outrage in Dallas County."

"Decent Americans everywhere were sickened by Sunday's barbarous assault on men, women and children by sheriff (James) Clark and Alabama police and volunteers, including mounted men," Case said.

Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., said the federal government should send U.S. marshals—or troops, if necessary, to protect civil rights marchers Tuesday.

LBJ Intervention

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said President Johnson should personally intervene in Alabama to protect the marchers.

"Now the time has come to act," Javits said. "This brutality is senseless. The law is very adequate to give the President a basis on which to proceed.

The White House said President Johnson was being kept "fully informed" on the Alabama situation.

Assassins Possibly Shot Wrong Man

Montevideo, Uruguay (AP)—Assassins stalking ex-Nazi Herberts Cukurs, wanted on charges of killing 30,000 Jews in Latvia during World War II, may have gunned down the wrong man, police sources said Monday.

A battered and bullet-riddled body at first identified as Cukurs' was found in a trunk in a suburban Montevideo villa last Saturday. A group calling itself "These Who Can Never Forget" claimed it had executed Cukurs for his wartime deeds.

Police, however, disclosed they are by no means sure Cukurs was the victim.

The dead man could be Cukurs' friend and business associate, Anton Kunzle, a 42-year-old Austrian who probably was with him that night, police said. They resembled each other.

A Brazilian journalist injected a new element of mystery by suggesting that Cukurs was trying to hunt down Dr. Josef Mengele, the notorious Auschwitz concentration camp physician believed at large in South America.

Grissom, Young Wait During Two-Man Trial

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom and John W. Young and their launch team Monday conducted a countdown rehearsal for America's first two-man space flight. If it had been the real thing, the shot would have been postponed.

The astronauts, who are scheduled to make a three-orbit flight on March 22, made a dry run on everything they are to do on launch day—down to one second before blast-off. They donned their silver space suits and spent the final 100 minutes of the count in their capsule perched 100 feet atop a Titan 2 rocket.

Four problems combined to delay the countdown more than four hours. One of them, a fuel oxidizer leak, was not repaired in the interest of completing the remainder of the mock exercise. The others involved crossed wires in ground support equipment, failure of some batteries to reach peak power immediately and a faulty computer reading in the control center.

Project Gemini officials said that none of the problems was serious, but that the same combination on launching day would cause a postponement. The idea of a simulated mission, they noted, is to pinpoint such trouble areas in advance.

The time delay alone Monday would cause a postponement because there would not be the required two hours of daylight after the astronauts landed in the prime recovery area near Grand Turk Island.

Based on the simulated launch time of 1:09 p.m., Grissom and Young would have parachuted into the Atlantic Ocean about 6 p.m. after their nearly five-hour flight.

Coordinated State Communications Network Ordered

A plan to coordinate state agency communications in Nebraska was ordered drawn Monday by Gov. Frank Morrison.

Morrison said the objectives of the system are to eliminate duplicating facilities among state agencies, save money, provide a means of day-to-day communications and insure a dependable communications network in the event of a natural disaster or national emergency.

Assistant State Adjutant General Don Penderman was named chairman of an inter-agency committee that will plan the system.

Morrison said it is hoped the network can be outlined in time for a report to be made to the Legislature.

He added that it may be necessary to juggle the communications appropriations of some state agencies and "re-direct" the funds toward a centralized, coordinator system.

Gov. Morrison Calls Meeting On Kerr-Mills

Gov. Frank Morrison said Monday he has called a meeting between the State Medical Association and the State Welfare Department to discuss proposed changes in Nebraska's Kerr-Mills program.

Morrison said Dr. Richard Garlinghouse of Lincoln, president of the association, and John Gage, welfare director, are "in disagreement" over the extent the program should be liberalized.

Two proposals to expand the medical care for the aged plan are being held in the Legislature's Public Health and Welfare Committee.

At a public hearing on the bills, Dr. Garlinghouse endorsed Sen. Terry Carpenter's measure, LB165. LB367 proposes milder expansion.

Morrison said he personally "advocates liberalization of the Kerr-Mills policy," but doesn't "embrace the extent of liberalization advocated by some members of the medical profession."

The governor said he endorses the Kerr-Mills approach to the problem because "medical care should be given to the people who are financially in need."

He reaffirmed his opposition to the federal administration's proposed Medicare program

Richard Brown Named To School Lands, Funds Unit

Gov. Frank Morrison reported to the Legislature Monday the appointment of Richard Brown of Holdrege to the Board of Educational Lands and Funds.

Beatrice Sewer Project's Cost Set At $511,600

Southeast Nearaska Bureau

Beatrice — A preliminary study authorized by the City Council has hung a $511,600 price tag on an extensive storm sewer project covering much of northeast Beatrice.

Divided into four phases, the drainage project presumably will be financed as a general city obligation except for a small part which is now an open sewer ditch. A representative of Harold Hoskins and Associates, consulting engineers from Lincoln, indicated that this $4,160 portion will be assessed against adjoining property owners.

The lower part of the project, estimated to cost $106,000, is already incorporated in a downtown overlay district. The second phase will be much the largest at $207,500.

Planning Stage

Although the over-all study was authorized several weeks ago, it was emphasized that the proposal is still in the planning stage. The area covered is generally north of Court St., including considerable land now under development.

In other action, the council backed a recommendation of the Board of Public Works to purchase a front-end loader from Nebraska Tractor and Supply of Lincoln at a price $1,100 above the lowest bid.

A salesman from Construction Service Equipment Co. of Omaha said his $8,900 Case machine "meets or exceeds all specifications" but that a $10,000 Huff had been recommended by the Board of Public Works.

6-0 Vote

The vote to approve the purchase was 6-0 after a letter was read listing several features the board claimed justified the higher priced bid. The salesman was told, however, that the board could still rescind its action if persuaded.

Devoting considerable time to assessing improvement districts, the council split 4-4 in one request that the city assume a $164 assessment in sanitary sewer district 110. Mrs. Hannah Buckmeier had objected that she was not benefited, since she was already connected to another sewer district.

She was supported by Councilmen Les Warren, Millard Henderson, Ray Elwood, and William Waddell. Voting against were Robert LaCroix, Rex Lutz, Harry Milke, and Paul Kollekowski.

The council also:

—Considered several objections and then equalized assessments on repaving districts 41 and 45, water main district 60 and sanitary sewer district 110.

—Suspended rules and passed on three readings ordinance to create paving district in Prairie Lane Addition.

—Approved recommendation of Board of Public Works accepting $12,300 bid of E. A. Pederson Co. of Omaha for water system controls —Voted to advertise for bids on constructing water main district 77 in Prairie Lane Addition at estimated cost of $11,850.

Two Injured As Cars Collide

William E. Schnieber, 65, of 2732 Apple was treated for cuts and abrasions and released from Bryan Memorial Hospital and Daniel L. Weber, 21, of 1030 So. 9th, was listed in good condition at Bryan with cuts.

Police said Weber was westbound on Y when he collided with Schnieber's vehicle, which was northbound on 17th.

Demo Chairman Blasts Curtis

Democratic County Chairman Norman Krivosha said Monday that Republican Sen. Carl Curtis "ought to explain to the people of Nebraska what useful purpose he serves them in constantly attacking the administration, the Congress and the Supreme Court.'

The senator's "constant witch-hunting and character attacking smacks of the same sort of political claptrap expounded by the Goldwaterites during their recent record-setting defeat," he declared.

"Apparently, Senator Curtis still does not recognize the folly in that type of approach to the government."

. . . CRIES SEN. YARBOROUGH

Washington (UPI)—A Southern Senator said Monday that police action against Negro civil rights marchers in Alabama will hurt the United States more "than losing two battles in Viet Nam."

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., said in an emotion-filled Senate speech that Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace "needs to atone for the shame he has brought to Alabama and to my own great southland."

"We cannot win the war for liberty and democracy and freedom of opportunity around the world by losing it at home," Yarborough said. "Every lash of a bullwhip on human flesh in Alabama will cost us in treasure and likely in blood all around the world."

"Shame on you, George Wallace!" Yarborough cried.

Federal Intervention

Other Senaotrs and Congressmen called for federal intervention in Alabama.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., said the "need for federal action is urgent . . . to prevent further outrage in Dallas County."

"Decent Americans everywhere were sickened by Sunday's barbarous assault on men, women and children by sheriff (James) Clark and Alabama police and volunteers, including mounted men," Case said.

Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., said the federal government should send U.S. marshals—or troops, if necessary, to protect civil rights marchers Tuesday.

LBJ Intervention

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said President Johnson should personally intervene in Alabama to protect the marchers.

Weekends are becoming more adventurous as time progresses. One time you leave home driving on hazardous roads, just hoping you'll be able to make it back and then find the return trip as sunny as can be. But the opposite also can be true. You leave in sunshine and r e t u r n with snow.

Many familes have been staying close to home to avoid any unpleasant surprises, but this is not true of many Fiene Heights folk. To sit home and w o r r y about the weather changes is not for them, the woos of parties and guest overtakes any of their fears.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Knutzson admit Sunday dinners are always considered "special" at their house, but last Sunday's guests made it even more special. The Knutzson's dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ganshorn. The couple drove up from Beaver Crossing to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. K n u t z s o n and their daughter, Lynne.

The past weekend brought someone special to the Leland Yant home. That someone just happened to be their son, Roger, who is attending Wentworth Military Academy in Lexington, Mo. Roger is going to spend his 10-day spring furlough at his Fiene Heights home, and hopes to see many of his Lincoln friends.

Fred Witt Jr., is observing his 11th anniversary today. The real celebration took place last Sunday, when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Witt Sr., entertained at a dinner in their sons honor. Present for the party were Fred's brother-in-law and siste, Mr. and Mrs. Tad Dunham, his brother, George, and a friend, George Lewis.

thanks for slap

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a college junior. Last night I was out with a girl I thought a lot of. Naturally, I tried to see how far I could get, when she suddenly hauled off and slapped my face. Then she said, "B E H A V E YOURSELF!"

Abby, I never knew a slap in the face could feel so good. I almost thanked her for slapping me. Tell more girls to use that technique. Just because a guy puts up a little fight doesn't mean he wants to win.

D E A R SLAP-HAPPY: Thank you for your letter If you're lucky enough to get another date with this girl, I hope you behave yourself. Some guys who see how "far they can get," get the air.

DEAR ABBY: This is regarding the dilemma of the minister who was invited to a social function and was not asked to bring his wife:

Assuming the wife hadn't performed a strip tease at s o m e previous party, or something equally inappropriate, I suggest that her husband do the same thing the late Will Rogers once did.

A wealthy man threw an elaborate party to w h i c h Will Rogers w a s invited. Rogers attended and entertained the guests with his witty stories and jokes. Afterwards, Will sent his host a $1500 bill for "services rendered."

The host protested wildly, saying Rogers had been invited on a social basis, not professional. Will explained that had it been a "social" invitation, his wife should have been invited. The party-giver paid.

DEAR ABBY: The letter in your column about t h e lady who had her name on two tombstones with two different husbands probably made your readers wonder how nutty people can be. But I know of a woman who has her beat.

She bought THREE plots in a cemetery, one for herself, one for her husband, and one for her lover! In her will she stated: "When I die I want to be laid between the two of them. T h e y shared me in life, and it is my wish that they shall share me in death."

Pedestal bouquets of pink gladioli and white pompon chrysanthemums decorated the candlelighted chancel of Trinity Lutheran Church on Saturday evening, March 6, for the marriage of Miss Sherrill Ann Bett, daughter of Mrs. Henry Bett, to Arlan J. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller of Shelby. The service was solemnized at 7:30 o'clock by the Rev. A. W. Ernst, and Mrs. Herbert Haar, organist, played the wedding music. Mrs. Haar also accompanied R o d n e y Werth, the vocal soloist.

Frocked in pastel blue satin and carrying cascade arrangements of pink, feathered carnations were Mrs. Don Ormesher of Valentine, as the matron of honor; and the bridesmatrons, Mrs. Howard Turner, Rising City; and Mrs. Judith Daland.

Maynard Miller of Gresham, served as best man, and seating the guests were Howard Turner, R i s i n g City; Delmer Rathje, Shelby; and Roger Kleen, Lakewood, Colo.

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of white peau de soie. Appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace, dotted with seed pearls, framed the shoulder-wide neckline of the long-sleeved bodice, and the jeweled applique also d e t a i l e d the pleated skirt, which extended into a whisper train. Her veil of silk illusion was held to the head by a petaled cap of the silk, and she carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. Miller and his bride will make their home in Lincoln.

TALK
of the town

We're feeling much better about things this morning—The lift in the morale is due to the fact that the Lincoln Country Club has announced the dates of its 1965 Swingfest—June 17, 18 and 19. The bad weather has to be gone by that time.

* * *

But since there are numerous weeks between now and mid-June, we'd better do a trek around town and see who is doing what—and why.

One of the fun affairs was the dinner for which Miss Virginia Faulkner was hostess last Saturday evening at the University Club. There were four good reasons for the party—Mr. and Mrs. Max Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. John Richard Meyer, who were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversaries.

* * *

And on the calendar for this is the canape party for which Dr. and Mrs. Harold Maude will be host and hostess when they compliment Dr. Richard Toren on his birthday anniversary.

Up to now we have drawn a blank on Wednesday—but we found that Thursday was bot without its bright moments.

For Thursday morning Mrs. John F. Lawlor and Mrs. Michael Lawlor have invited guests to the home of Mrs. John Lawlor. The party is a brunch—given in prenuptial courtesy to Miss Katherine Lilly whose marrigae to Dale L. Gibbs will be solemnized on April 24.

The small group of guests will include mothers and daughters.

* * *

Looking backward—to last Sunday evening—we discover that the members of the Longshot Club were out and about—the supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Knight.

* * *

We have news from Falls City that will be of particular interest to Tri-Delta circles this morning—The communique tells us that Miss Mary Elizabeth Knaup arrived on Friday, March 5, at the Falls City Hospital. The young lady is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Knaup (of Falls City, of course) and her mother is the former Elizabeth James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vantini James of Nebraska City—and Delta Delta Delta at Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knaup of Weeping Water are the paternal grandparents.

of the suburban areas

Weekends are becoming more adventurous as time progresses. One time you leave home driving on hazardous roads, just hoping you'll be able to make it back and then find the return trip as sunny as can be. But the opposite also can be true. You leave in sunshine and r e t u r n with snow.

Many familes have been staying close to home to avoid any unpleasant surprises, but this is not true of many Fiene Heights folk. To sit home and w o r r y about the weather changes is not for them, the woos of parties and guest overtakes any of their fears.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Knutzson admit Sunday dinners are always considered "special" at their house, but last Sunday's guests made it even more special. The Knutzson's dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ganshorn. The couple drove up from Beaver Crossing to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. K n u t z s o n and their daughter, Lynne.

The past weekend brought someone special to the Leland Yant home. That someone just happened to be their son, Roger, who is attending Wentworth Military Academy in Lexington, Mo. Roger is going to spend his 10-day spring furlough at his Fiene Heights home, and hopes to see many of his Lincoln friends.

Fred Witt Jr., is observing his 11th anniversary today. The real celebration took place last Sunday, when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Witt Sr., entertained at a dinner in their sons honor. ## with cherry, almond sauce

Preparing a pork roast is no trick. Even an inexperienced cook can serve pork roast "done to perfection" the very first time. The technique is simple.

PORK LOIN WITH CHERRY-ALMOND SAUCE

4 to 6 pound pork loin
1 jar (12 ounce) cherry preserves (1 cup)
½ cup light corn sirup
¼ cup red wine vinegar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
¼ cup slivered blanched almonds

Place meat on a rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in slow oven (325 degrees F.) until done, about 3 hours. Meanwhile, combine cherry preserves, corn sirup, vinegar, salt and spices. Bring to boil; boil 1 minute. Add almonds. Baste meat with sauce several times during last 30 minutes roasting time. Serve remaining sauce with meat. Yield: About 8 servings.

Opening lead—ten of diamonds.

West led the ten of diamonds at each table. The first declarer pinned all his hopes on the success of a club finesse. He won the diamond, drew three rounds of trumps, and then played the king and another club, finessing the nine.

Had the finesse succeeded, South would have made the hand. But East took the club with the queen and the defense later scored two spades to set the contract two tricks.

The second declarer also took a club finesse, but, peculiarly enough, managed to make the slam, due to a slight variation in the play.

He won the diamond lead and drew three rounds of trumps, just as at the first table, but he then played the seven of clubs and finessed the nine, hoping that the finesse would lose to the queen. Had this happened, South would easily have made the hand by later overtaking the king of clubs with the ace.

But East made the clever play of allowing the nine to win the trick.

He then led the jack of spades from dummy and finessed when East followed low. The jack lost to the king, but when declarer later overtook the king of clubs with the ace and tried a second spade finesse, it succeeded and he made the twelve tricks.

Worthy Banquet In Washington

At a time of year when banquets are being given to honor everything from the local basketball team if it managed to win at least one game to the midget ping pong runners-up in the Ticonderoga Club tournament, a fete given the past weekend stands far above all others.

The scene was Washington, D.C., where a group calling itself the Nebraska State Society gathered to pay tribute to two Nebraskans for their contributions in putting Nebraska in the national spotlight.

Nebraska seldom draws much attention nationally. Charlie Starkweather drew national attention to the state; the State Legislature draws attention when they consider something as ridiculous as the Liberty Amendment and it draws attention when a tornado or a flood causes the afflicted zone to be a disaster area.

All of the above have put Nebraska in the national limelight at various times, but none in a way that reflects much credit on the state.

But there is another area in which Nebraska has gained national attention—of a creditable variety. And that has been through sports.

The accomplishments of Bob Devaney as Nebraska football coach and Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals in the past couple of years have served to more than offset whatever bad image the state has gotten from such foolishness as Liberty Amendments and Charlie Starkweathers.

Devaney has taken Nebraska football from a bare score in most of the Sunday sport sections and put it into headlines day after day.

Hard To Ignore

It is hard to imagine any paper ignoring the weekly wire service football polls. Devaney has had the Nebraska name in them most of the time during the past two years.

It is equally hard for papers to ignore the major bowl games. Devaney has had the Nebraska name before the public in this way also the past two years.

Gibson, using his specialty, has also put the state before the public. Just as you can't ignore football polls and major bowl games, neither can you ignore the World Series.

People who can't tell you whether St. Louis is in the American or National League suddenly become baseball fans the first part of October each year.

All Gibson did for the state last year was pitch two victories in the World Series for the Cardinals against the Yankees last October. And more than once, the fact was mentioned that Gibson calls Nebraska home.

Nebraska Sen. Roman Hruska told the gathering, "It is especially fitting that these third annual awards go to two Nebraska sports figures."

—FINAL UPI POLL—

Michigan's 21-3 Season Good For National Title

New York (UPI) — Michigan, the runnerup last season, turned the tables on defending champion UCLA today by capturing the 1964-65 major college basketball title in the final United Press International coaches' ratings.

Led by all-America Cazzie Russell and Bill Buntin, the Wolverines posted their best record in history (21-3) en route to their first national championship. Michigan received 26 first-place votes from the 35 coaches on the UPI rating board compared to six for second-ranked UCLA and three for third-ranked St. Joseph's (Pa.).

After winning 13 straight league games, the Wolverines failed in their bid to complete a perfect Big 10 campaign when they lost to Ohio State 93-85 in their season finale Monday night. However, Michigan played the game without Russell, who was suffering from a fever and a sore throat.

The Wolverines are the third Big 10 Conference team to win the permanent UPI trophy (the others: Indiana, 1953 and '54; Ohio State, 1961 and '62). Coach Dave Strack's Big 10 champions open a bid for the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship Friday in the Mideast Regionals at Lexington, Ky.

(The 1-2 finish by Michigan and UCLA exactly matched the coaches' pre-season predictions, which succeeded in naming seven of the Top 10 finalists.)

Following St. Joseph's in the final ratings are once-beaten Providence in fourth place, Southeastern Conference champion Vanderbilt in fifth, Western Athletic Conference winner Brigham Young in sixth and regular season Southern Conference titlist Davidson, seventh.

Minnesota finished eighth, Duke—the regular season Atlantic Coast champ— was ninth and West Coast Athletic winner San Francisco, No. 10.

The only change the standings from the previous week involved sixth-ranked Brigham Young and ninth-ranked Duke, who swapped positions. Duke tumbled after losing to North Carolina State in the finals of the ACC tournament. BYU spurted the last month of the season, winning 12 of 13.

Villanova (21-4) headed the second 10 followed by 12th-ranked North Carolina State (20-4). Oklahoma State (18-6), placed 13th, and 14th-ranked Wichita (19-7) are the Big Eight and Missouri Valley kings, respectively. Connecticut (23-2) finished 15th as the Yankee champ.

The final ratings were based on games played through Saturday, March 6.

The final 1964-65 major college basketball ratings with first-place votes and won-lost records through Saturday, March 6, in parentheses:

| TEAM | POINTS |

| 8. Minnesota (18-6) | 79 |
| 9. Duke (20-5) | 62 |

HUSKERS LOSE, 79-67

K-State Bumps NU From Fifth

. . . TEAMWORK POOR

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska, showing less teamwork than most intramural teams, blew any chance at gaining a fifth place standing in the Big Eight basketball chase Monday night as Kansas State scored a 79-67 victory at the NU Coliseum.

The loss left the Huskers tied with the Wildcats for sixth place with final 5-9 records. The only thing keeping the pair from the Big Eight cellar is Oklahoma's presence in the league.

Coach Joe Cipriano's Scarlet and Cream cagers fell behind quickly after staying close through the first 10 minutes and after midway in the first half two things were quite clear—that Kansas State was on its way to a win and that the Huskers weren't about to pass the ball until absolutely necessary.

Operating on the theory that if the ball was meant to be passed instead of dribbled, they wouldn't have put air in it, Nebraska saw numerous two and three on one situations go astray because of a reluctance to pass off to an open man.

The Huskers did manage to soundly outrebound the Wildcats, 77 to 53, but this probably was due to the fact that the NU cagers figured they weren't going to get the ball from a teammate so they had better get it off the boards.

The estimated crowd of 4,000 saw only one brief offensive spurt by the Huskers after the first 10 minutes. That mild flurry came in the second half when NU fought back from a 40-27 halftime deficit to come within five at 42-38 with four minutes gone in the final period.

After K-State's Roy Smith canned a free throw to boost the margin to 41-27 opening the second half, Nebraska rallied for seven straight points on a free throw by Coley Webb, a tip-in by Fred Hare, who started the second half after coming off the bench in the first half, a jump shot by Webb and a lay-in by Simmons.

This cut the margin to 41-34 with 17:04 remaining in the game. Sammy Robinson broke the Wildcat drought with a jump shot before Jerry Spears and Webb countered with field goals to cut the lead to 43-38.

But that was the end of the Husker surge. Kansas State came back in the next eight minutes to soundly whack the Huskers, gaining a 64-47 advantage with 8:22 left.

The biggest K-State lead of the game came with 3:10 remaining when Dennis Berkholtz and Robinson hit back-to-back jump shots for a 19-point margin at 73-54.

Willie Campbell led the NU point parade with 16 while Hare, coming off the bench, scored 15 and grabbed 17 rebounds. Spears, making his last appearance as a Husker senior, pulled down 22 rebounds.

Kansas State had five players in double figures with Berkholtz' 19 leading.

Lincoln Keglers Out Front

. . . IN MEN'S STATE BOWLING TOURNAMENT

From the looks of things, Lincoln bowlers may dominate the team division in the Nebraska state men's bowling tournament at Leisure Lanes in Omaha.

In the first place, there are more teams from Lincoln in the big meet than from any city. The Capital City will send 133 of them into action before the tournament is over, while host Omaha has only 129 entered.

And after two weekends of bowling, there are six Lincoln teams in the top 10. Leading the pack is the M. G. Lehman team from Lincoln which includes Dwain Meyer, Rod- includes Dwain Meyer, Gene Meyer, Lloyd Peterson, William Schnoor and Chuck Campbell.

With the help of a 492-pin handicap, they currently stand atop the division with a 3,152 total. This same team recently finished second in the Lincoln city tournament with a 2,595 scratch series and a 3,117 handicap total.

Other Lincoln groups in the top ten include the Gas Company (third), Littys (fourth), Plaza Bowl (fifth), Bankers Life (seventh) and Overheads (eighth).

And the high scratch team at the moment, Falstaffs of Omaha, includes Lincolnites Bill Hoppe and Bill Koehler. The Falstaffs rolled a 2,915 series Saturday.

Hoppe lost his scratch singles lead over the weekend to Jim Ryan Jr. of Omaha, who bowled a 719 series. But Bill still retains the all-events lead with a 1,911 total, and he and Koehler remain the high scratch doubles duo with a 1,267 mark.

Koehler currently is sixth in all-events with a 1,813 total. On a handicap basis, William Blair of the Lincoln Air Force Base is 10th in singles at 689, the father-and-son duo of Bill and Steve Davidson are fourth in doubles at 1,300 and Leroy Virus and Myron Lang are fifth in doubles at 1,271. Hoppe and Koehler are sixth, even with no handicap pins.

Davis Cup Team To Be Assembled

New York (AP)—The new U.S. Davis Cup captain, George MacCall, said Monday he planned to assemble a four-man squad in mid-May to begin all-out campaign for the international tennis trophy.

"This is not an experimental year as far as we're concerned, we're out to win," added the 46-year-old Los Angeles insurance executive who recently was named to succeed Vic Seixas. "We plan to spare nothing in our bid to get back the Davis Cup."

MacCall, a handsome, personable former Air Force navigator, listed as the preliminary Davis Cup squad: Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., America's No. 1 player; 6-foot-6 Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla.; Ron Holmberg, 27-year-old comebacker from Dallas, and the Dallas schoolboy, Cliff Richey, 18.

"This doesn't mean those boys are being favored or are the nucleus of our plans," MacCall added Hastily. "It's just that they are available to start a Europaen swing with the French championships in May.

Other players figuring in MacCall's plans are Chuck McKinley, former Wimbledon champion who recently has taken a financial job in New York; Ham Richardson of Dallas, a Cup veteran; and Arthur Ashe, Clark Grabner, Marty Riessen, Gene Scott and Charlie Pasarell, all of whom are in school.

"I have talked with McKinley but I plan to talk with him some more," the new captain said. "I hope that he'll be able to go to Mexico City with us, if only as a doubles partner of Ralston."

MacCall made an appearance at a special luncheon meeting called by Martin Tressel, the new president of the USLTA.

Playing in the American Zone, the United States must first play Canada, somewhere on the Pacific Coast probably, then meet Mexico in Mexico City before qualifying for the Inter-Zone final in Europe and the Challenge Round in Australia. The Challenge Round is scheduled after Christmas in Sydney, Australia.

MacCall said he leaned toward Pancho Gonzales as coach but also was considering George Tolley of the University of Southern California, Clarence Mabry of Trinity University in Texas, Bill Price of St. Louis and Ed Faulkner of Swarthmore, Pa.

Worthy Banquet In Washington

At a time of year when banquets are being given to honor everything from the local basketball team if it managed to win at least one game to the midget ping pong runners-up in the Ticonderoga Club tournament, a fete given the past weekend stands far above all others.

The scene was Washington, D.C., where a group calling itself the Nebraska State Society gathered to pay tribute to two Nebraskans for their contributions in putting Nebraska in the national spotlight.

Nebraska seldom draws much attention nationally. Charlie Starkweather drew national attention to the state; the State Legislature draws attention when they consider something as ridiculous as the Liberty Amendment and it draws attention when a tornado or a flood causes the afflicted zone to be a disaster area.

All of the above have put Nebraska in the national limelight at various times, but none in a way that reflects much credit on the state.

But there is another area in which Nebraska has gained national attention—of a creditable variety. And that has been through sports.

The accomplishments of Bob Devaney as Nebraska football coach and Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals in the past couple of years have served to more than offset whatever bad image the state has gotten from such foolishness as Liberty Amendments and Charlie Starkweathers.

Devaney has taken Nebraska football from a bare score in most of the Sunday sport sections and put it into headlines day after day.

Hard To Ignore

It is hard to imagine any paper ignoring the weekly wire service football polls. Devaney has had the Nebraska name in them most of the time during the past two years.

It is equally hard for papers to ignore the major bowl games. Devaney has had the Nebraska name before the public in this way also the past two years.

Gibson, using his specialty, has also put the state before the public. Just as you can't ignore football polls and major bowl games, neither can you ignore the World Series.

People who can't tell you whether St. Louis is in the American or National League suddenly become baseball fans the first part of October each year.

All Gibson did for the state last year was pitch two victories in the World Series for the Cardinals against the Yankees last October. And more than once, the fact was mentioned that Gibson calls Nebraska home.

Nebraska Sen. Roman Hruska told the gathering, "It is especially fitting that these third annual awards go to two Nebraska sports figures."

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska, showing less teamwork than most intramural teams, blew any chance at gaining a fifth place standing in the Big Eight basketball chase Monday night as Kansas State scored a 79-67 victory at the NU Coliseum.

The loss left the Huskers tied with the Wildcats for sixth place with final 5-9 records. The only thing keeping the pair from the Big Eight cellar is Oklahoma's presence in the league.

Coach Joe Cipriano's Scarlet and Cream cagers fell behind quickly after staying close through the first 10 minutes and after midway in the first half two things were quite clear—that Kansas State was on its way to a win and that the Huskers weren't about to pass the ball until absolutely necessary.

Operating on the theory that if the ball was meant to be passed instead of dribbled, they wouldn't have put air in it, Nebraska saw numerous two and three on one situations go astray because of a reluctance to pass off to an open man.

The Huskers did manage to soundly outrebound the Wildcats, 77 to 53, but this probably was due to the fact that the NU cagers figured they weren't going to get the ball from a teammate so they had better get it off the boards.

The estimated crowd of 4,000 saw only one brief offensive spurt by the Huskers after the first 10 minutes. That mild flurry came in the second half when NU fought back from a 40-27 halftime deficit to come within five at 43-38 with four minutes gone in the final period.

After K-State's Roy Smith canned a free throw to boost the margin to 41-27 opening the second half, Nebraska rallied for seven straight points on a free throw by Coley Webb, a tip-in by Fred Hare, who started the second half after coming off the bench in the first half, a jump shot by Webb and a lay-in by Simmons.

This cut the margin to 41-34 with 17:04 remaining in the game. Sammy Robinson broke the Wildcat drought with a jump shot before Jerry Spears and Webb countered with field goals to cut the lead to 43-38.

But that was the end of the Husker surge. Kansas State came back in the next eight minutes to soundly whack the Huskers, gaining a 64-47 advantage with 8:22 left.

The biggest K-State lead of the game came with 3:10 remaining when Dennis Berkholtz and Robinson hit back-to-back jump shots for a 19-point margin at 73-54.

Lincoln Keglers Out Front

. . . IN MEN'S STATE BOWLING TOURNAMENT

From the looks of things, Lincoln bowlers may dominate the team division in the Nebraska state men's bowling tournament at Leisure Lanes in Omaha.

In the first place, there are more teams from Lincoln in the big meet than from any city. The Capital City will send 133 of them into action before the tournament is over, while host Omaha has only 129 entered.

And after two weekends of bowling, there are six Lincoln teams in the top 10. Leading the pack is the M. G. Lehman team from Lincoln which includes Dwain Meyer, Rod-includes Dwain Meyer, Gene Meyer, Lloyd Peterson, William Schnoor and Chuck Campbell.

Koehler currently is sixth in all-events with a 1,813 total. # Michigan's 21-3 Season Good For National Title

New York (UPI) — Michigan, the runnerup last season, turned the tables on defending champion UCLA today by capturing the 1964-65 major college basketball title in the final United Press International coaches' ratings.

Led by all-America Cazzie Russell and Bill Buntin, the Wolverines posted their best record in history (21-3) en route to their first national championship. Michigan received 26 first-place votes from the 35 coaches on the UPI rating board compared to six for second-ranked UCLA and three for third-ranked St. Joseph's (Pa.).

After winning 13 straight league games, the Wolverines failed in their bid to complete a perfect Big 10 campaign when they lost to Ohio State 93-85 in their season finale Monday night. However, Michigan played the game without Russell, who was suffering from a fever and a sore throat.

The Wolverines are the third Big 10 Conference team to win the permanent UPI trophy (the others: Indiana, 1953 and '54; Ohio State, 1961 and '62). Coach Dave Strack's Big 10 champions open a bid for the National Collegiate Athletic Association championship Friday in the Mideast Regionals at Lexington, Ky.

(The 1-2 finish by Michigan and UCLA exactly matched the coaches' pre-season predictions, which succeeded in naming seven of the Top 10 finalists.)

Following St. Joseph's in the final ratings are once-beaten Providence in fourth place, Southeastern Conference champion Vanderbilt in fifth, Western Athletic Conference winner Brigham Young in sixth and regular season Southern Conference titlist Davidson, seventh.

Minnesota finished eighth, Duke—the regular season Atlantic Coast champ— was ninth and West Coast Athletic winner San Francisco, No. 10.

The only change the standings from the previous week involved sixth-ranked Brigham Young and ninth-ranked Duke, who swapped positions. Duke tumbled after losing to North Carolina State in the finals of the ACC tournament. BYU spurted the last month of the season, winning 12 of 13.

Villanova (21-4) headed the second 10 followed by 12th-ranked North Carolina State (20-4). Oklahoma State (18-6), placed 13th, and 14th-ranked Wichita (19-7) are the Big Eight and Missouri Valley kings, respectively. Connecticut (23-2) finished 15th as the Yankee champ.

Class C Field Includes Four Top-Rated Teams

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

University High, Wood River, Hebron and Fullerton, ranked 1-2-3-4 at the end of regular season play head the powerful lineup.

University High and Hebron are dipping into the Class C ranks for the first time after distinguished records in Class B play. Wood River and Fullerton have also campaigned in Class B in recent seasons and all have schedules loaded with tough Class B opposition.

Joining the top-rated quartet are sixth-ranked Crawford, seventh-ranked Wausa and eighth-ranked Omaha St. Joseph. Seward Concordia, a fast improving young team, is the only non-rated team in the tourney.

Wood River has the state's top scorer in 6-5 Glenn Mays and Fullerton has the state's tallest cager in 6-9 Jack Kramer, whose development has boosted the Warriors.

Mays and Kramer, two of the better big boys in the Class C ranks, are joined in the state tourney by other standouts such as University High's Dave Butler (6-5), Hebron's Dean Krueger (6-5), and Wausa's Dennis Larson (6-7).

SEWARD CONCORDIA (16-6)

Bob Baden's Raiders making their state tourney bid a year early after fast finish in a "rebuilding" year . . . Senior Ron Pfeiffer (6-1) and junior Mike Mueller (6-1) were only lettermen on hand at start of season.

Joining them as dependable regulars are juniors John Haak (6-1), Reed Sander (6-3) and sophomore Brian Naber (6-1) . . . Balanced height gives Raiders good rebounding game . . . Baden also has capable reserves.

Concordia avenged regular season loss to ninth-ranked Henderson in district play . . . Team won Atlas Conference championship . . . Lost 10 point decision to unbeaten Omaha St. Joseph in January.

UNIVERSITY HIGH (18-4)

Tutors earned No. 1 rating at conclusion of regular season play after fine performance in toughest schedule any Class C team attempted . . . Only losses came at hands of Class A Pius X and Fairbury and Class B powers Ralston and Geneva . . . Dale Snook's team only one to stop Hebron...

Tutors like to run and are well schooled in all phases of game . . . Make up for lack of height with speed and fine outside shooting.

All-city guard Ron Schroeder (5-10) is top gunner, but half a dozen others are capable scorers . . . Seniors Dennis Butts (5-9), Dave Butler (6-5) and Tom Hellerich (6-1) solid team performers . . . Juniors Dennis Beckmann (5-10) and Jerry Schultz (5-10) excellent all-around players . . . Snook has dependable bench corps.

WOOD RIVER (22-1)

Second-ranked Eagles had troubles in district play, but recovered top form in playoff against Sumner . . . Whipped Aurora and St. Paul from Class B top ten . . . Only loss was in four overtimes against Class B Loup City.

Delyan Klenker's team built around 6-5 senior Glenn Mays, averaging over 30 points and 18 rebounds a game . . . Rugged pivot performer was all-state end in football, had top effort of 48 points against Aurora.

Eagles have additional height in person of 6-4 junior Tom Jensen . . . Doug Denman, 5-8 senior, is floor leader . . . Eagles soared this year after 10-9 finish in 1964.

FULLERTON (18-6)

Warriors, who have fine tourney tradition, sharpened up for title bid as they closed their regular season against five teams from the Class B top ten . . . Dumped defending champion Stanton in playoff to earn Lincoln trip.

Coach Ray Ehlers has veteran team which has excellent balance and depth . . . Vast improvement by 6-3 junior Jack Kramer during course of season makes fourth-rated Warriors a solid threat.

Senior Dave Christensen (5-9) is sparkplug of offense . . . Kramer gets help on boards from seniors Ron Beaman (6-3), Chuck Bowman (6-0), Mick Uzendoski (6-1½) and Loren Faaborg (6-1).

HEBRON (18-1)

Veteran team has good height. Big boys are senior Dean Krueger (6-5) and junior Danny Wilkens (6-4) . . . Senior Lavesme Kassebaum (6-1) is good outside shooter . . . He and junior Loren Peithman (6-1) add to rebounding punch . . . Gary McLaughlin (5-7 directs attack.

Lowe has several capable reserves . . . Got along without Peithman in district play.

OMAHA ST. JOSEPH (20-0)

Coach Steve Kunasek also starts three underclassmen . . . Sophomore Rich Schicker (6-1, 195) is rugged rebounder . . . Junior Jerry Meyer (5-9) and sophomore Mike Keary (6-1) other starters.

Varied schedule included several wins over Class B clubs . . . Johawks made it all the way this year after losing to Waverly in playoff in 19-5 season last year.

WAUSA (19-1)

Only loss on Vikings' ledger was to Class B Bloomfield . . . Niel Edmunds' team still young and could return again next year.

Only senior is 6-7½ Dennis Larson, averaging 21 points and 16 rebounds a game . . . His play has made the difference in close games.

Best of a fine junior crop is 6-3½ Brian Buhrman . . . His 19-point scoring and strong rebounding gives Corntassel Conference entry a potent 1-2 punch . . . Gary Seagren (6-2) adds height . . . Roland Johnson (5-10) good outside performer.

CRAWFORD (22-2)

Only setbacks were at hands of Class B teams Bridgeport and Gordon . . . Coach John Mundell has well balanced team with seven lettermen back from last year's 16-6 club.

Rams lack height . . . Bob Waite, 6-2 senior, and Steve Hawk, 6-2 junior, are biggest players . . . Only other six footer is senior Rex Mahlman.

—DEFENDING CHAMPION BEAVER CROSSING ONLY CLASS D RETURNEE—

Familiar Faces Replaced By New Crop Of Contenders

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

There's a new look in the state Class D basketball tourney this year with the familiar contenders of recent seasons having been replaced by an anxious crop of title contenders.

Only defending champion Beaver Crossing returns from last year's state tourney field. And the Beavers, despite being the reigning champs, are cast in a Cinderella role again this year.

One thing they won't have to do is knock off three undefeated teams as they did en route to the title last year.

There aren't any unbeaten teams remaining this year. The best marks are carried into the tourney by Guide Rock (24-1) and Platte Center (20-1).

The three teams with the most impressive district and playoff credentials are the three teams with the poorest records — Beaver Crossing, Loomis and Avoca.

Loomis knocked off top-ranked Hildreth and eighth-ranked Madrid en route to Lincoln. Beaver Crossing spilled second-ranked Marquette and Avoca toppled third-ranked Herman.

BEAVER CROSSING (15-6)

Defending champions surprised by returning after having lost all starters from last year's once-beaten outfit . . . New coach Dean Ruth has brought club to peak after it lost four of first six starts.

Strong point for the Beavers is inside play of seniors Jim Flowerday (6-3) and Jerry Bohaty (6-3½) . . . Flowerday averaging 19 points and Bohaty 15 . . . Together they give the champions a strong rebounding effort.

Junior Larry Ebers (5-11) and senior Garold Wambold (5-10) offer scoring punch in a balanced attack . . . Wambold was a bonus this year, transferring in from Harvard . . . Beavers sidelined second-ranked Marquette in their playoff final.

ELGIN ST. BONIFACE (22-2)

Top performers for coach Gary Schmidt are 6-3 junior Bernard Kluthe and 6-0 senior Terry Henn . . . Henn earned all-state football honors. Other vets on the squad are seniors Jim Schmitt (5-11) and Larry Vanourney (5-11) and juniors Mike Hausmann (5-8) and Ken Vanourney (5-8).

HALSEY-DUNNING (18-2)

Tigers upset fifth-ranked Chadron Assumption in playoff finals to earn state tourney ticket . . . School has had fine athletic year, finishing undefeated in football.

Veteran club improved after 14-7 campaign a year ago . . . Wayne Thomas, 5-9 senior, is best ball handler . . . Carol Conard, 6-0 senior, helps Spitler on boards.

GUIDE ROCK (24-1)

Warriors have rangy front line in seniors Galen Rogers, Rich Schmidt and Bill Thayer, all 6-3 . . . Senior Gene Meents (6-1) and junior Tom Fausch (5-9) handle backcourt jobs . . . Thayer very capable in pivot area and leads club in scoring and rebounding.

Lee Roy Heltmeier's team clicked this year after a 14-10 campaign last season . . . Won Guide Rock invitational and Pioneer Conference tourneys.

Warriors had some anxious moments in district and playoff games . . . Fourth-ranked team had to scramble to get past Shickley, 42-40, in final playoff assignment . . . Team had season high of 99 points in regular season finale against Bladen . . . Only loss was to Clay Center.

PLATTE CENTER (20-1)

Explorers have fine brother combination in 6-3 senior Dave Macken and 6-2 junior Tom Macken . . . A third solid scoring threat is Allen Hendrickson, 6-0 senior . . . Dave Macken led club in playoff competition with 53 points against Elba and Oconto.

Seniors Lowell Janssen (6-0) and Dana Mark (5-8) provide solid support on club which improved on last year's 15-7 record . . . Only loss was at the hands of Orchard.

ODELL (22-3)

High scoring Tigers topped the 80-point mark in four of five games leading to state tourney . . . Hit season high in 112-46 win over Diller . . . Had narrow 55-54 escape in playoff against Douglas.

Fourth time in five years that Jerry Rupprecht's team has won 20 or more games . . . Tigers have a good big man in 6-6 Ed Scheele, who provides strong scoring and rebounding punch.

Only setbacks were at the hands of Class C teams Sterling, Wymore and Falls City Sacred Heart.

LOOMIS (18-5)

Top-ranked Hildreth and eighth-ranked Madrid were victims of the Wolves in tourney play . . . Roland Anderson's team stunned Hildreth, 51-49, after losing twice to the same team during season . . . Fort Kearney entry now has won 13 of last 14.

Top hand in the Loomis camp is 6-4 senior Ross Ridenour, who sports a 20 point scoring average and averages 15 rebounds a game . . . Others take turns in adding to a well balanced attack . . . Anderson had nine lettermen back from squad which finished 11-10 a year ago and depth is no problem.

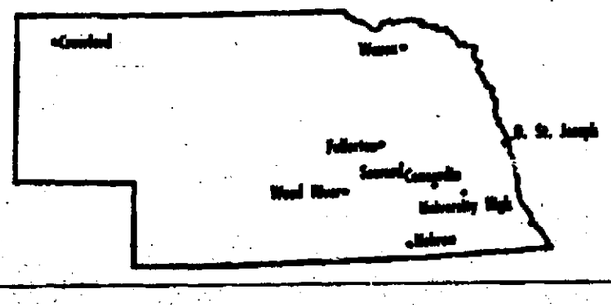

Helping Ridenour with the inside work is senior Cliff Johnson (6-2½) . . . Rich Rehnberg, a 5-7 senior, heads the backcourt crop . . . Team offensive peak came in 110-45 win over Edison.

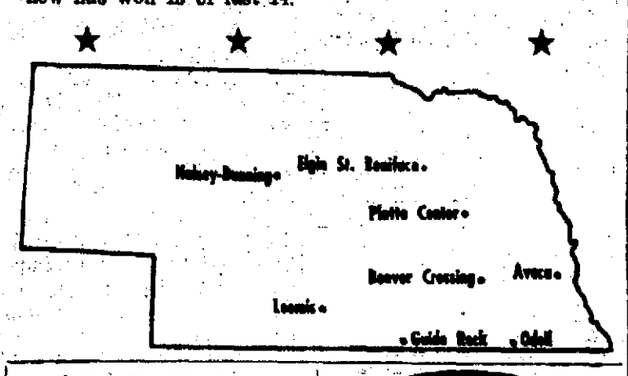

AVOCA (20-4)

Ron Seymour's Cardinals may be best balanced club in tourney . . . Big man missing, but team rebounds well and has fine shooting . . . Cousins Gary (21) and Roger (18) Wohlers have best scoring averages . . . Larry Ludwig (6-1) capable center . . . Brothers Mike and Leon Bose handle backcourt jobs.

Cardinals won Nehawka Invitational, Mudecas and Mustang tourneys before district and playoff titles . . . Best win during regular season was 72-67 overtime verdict over Class C Sterling.

Herman, state runner up the past two years and ranked No. 3 prior to district tourneys, was the big win during tourney play . . . Cardinals trailed by 11 after three quarters, then won in overtime . . . Mustang Conference entry used experience to improve on last year's 11-9 record.

Class C Field Includes Four Top-Rated Teams

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

University High, Wood River, Hebron and Fullerton, ranked 1-2-3-4 at the end of regular season play head the powerful lineup.

University High and Hebron are dipping into the Class C ranks for the first time after distinguished records in Class B play. Wood River and Fullerton have also campaigned in Class B in recent seasons and all have schedules loaded with tough Class B opposition.

Joining the top-rated quartet are sixth-ranked Crawford, seventh-ranked Wausa and eighth-ranked Omaha St. Joseph. Seward Concordia, a fast improving young team, is the only non-rated team in the tourney.

Wood River has the state's top scorer in 6-5 Glenn Mays and Fullerton has the state's tallest cager in 6-9 Jack Kramer, whose development has boosted the Warriors.

Mays and Kramer, two of the better big boys in the Class C ranks, are joined in the state tourney by other standouts such as University High's Dave Butler (6-5), Hebron's Dean Krueger (6-5), and Wausa's Dennis Larson (6-7).

SEWARD CONCORDIA (16-6)

Bob Baden's Raiders making their state tourney bid a year early after fast finish in a "rebuilding" year . . . Senior Ron Pfeiffer (6-1) and junior Mike Mueller (6-1) were only lettermen on hand at start of season.

Joining them as dependable regulars are juniors John Haak (6-1), Reed Sander (6-3) and sophomore Brian Naber (6-1) . . . Balanced height gives Raiders good rebounding game . . . Baden also has capable reserves.

Concordia avenged regular season loss to ninth-ranked Henderson in district play . . . Team won Atlas Conference championship . . . Lost 10 point decision to unbeaten Omaha St. Joseph in January.

UNIVERSITY HIGH (18-4)

Tutors earned No. 1 rating at conclusion of regular season play after fine performance in toughest schedule any Class C team attempted . . . Only losses came at hands of Class A Pius X and Fairbury and Class B powers Ralston and Geneva . . . Dale Snook's team only one to stop Hebron...

Tutors like to run and are well schooled in all phases of game . . . Make up for lack of height with speed and fine outside shooting.

All-city guard Ron Schroeder (5-10) is top gunner, but half a dozen others are capable scorers . . . Seniors Dennis Butts (5-9), Dave Butler (6-5) and Tom Hellerich (6-1) solid team performers . . . Juniors Dennis Beckmann (5-10) and Jerry Schultz (5-10) excellent all-around players . . . Snook has dependable bench corps.

WOOD RIVER (22-1)

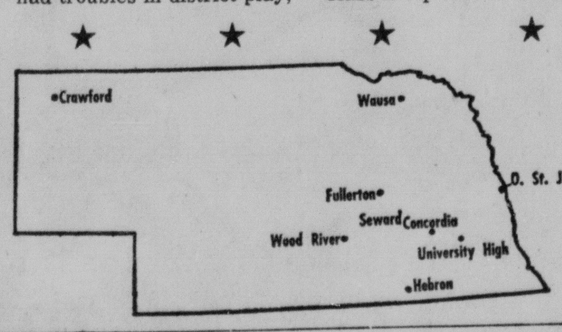

Second-ranked Eagles had troubles in district play, but recovered top form in playoff against Sumner . . . Whipped Aurora and St. Paul from Class B top ten . . . Only loss was in four overtimes against Class B Loup City.

Delynn Kienker's team built around 6-5 senior Glenn Mays, averaging over 30 points and 18 rebounds a game . . . Rugged pivot performer was all-state end in football, had top effort of 48 points against Aurora.

Eagles have additional height in person of 6-4 junior Tom Jensen . . . Doug Denman, 5-8 senior, is floor leader . . . Eagles soared this year after 10-9 finish in 1964.

FULLERTON (18-6)

Warriors, who have fine tourney tradition, sharpened up for title bid as they closed their regular season against five teams from the Class B top ten . . . Dumped defending champion Stanton in playoff to earn Lincoln trip.

Coach Ray Ehlers has veteran team which has excellent balance and depth . . . Vast improvement by 6-9 junior Jack Kramer during course of season makes fourth-rated Warriors a solid threat.

Senior Dave Christensen (5-9) is sparkplug of offense . . . Kramer gets help on boards from seniors Ron Beaman (6-3), Chuck Bowman (6-0), Mick Uzendoski (6-1½) and Loren Faaborg (6-1).

HEBRON (18-1)

Bears sailed through tough schedule losing only to University High . . . Third-ranked team ousted unbeaten Franklin in district showdown . . . Al Lowe's team has pair of wins over Class B contender Geneva.

Veteran team has good height. Big boys are senior Dean Krueger (6-5) and junior Danny Wilkens (6-4) . . . Senior Lavonne Kassebaum (6-1) is good outside shooter . . . He and junior Loren Peithman (6-1) add to rebounding punch . . . Gary McLaughlin (5-7 directs attack.

Lowe has several capable reserves . . . Got along without Peithman in district play.

OMAHA ST. JOSEPH (20-0)

Only unbeaten team in state . . . Johawks not big, but have good shooting . . . Seniors Tom Connor (6-0) and Gene Ritter (6-2) are scoring leaders.

Coach Steve Kunasek also starts three underclassmen . . . Sophomore Rich Schicker (6-1, 195) is rugged rebounder . . . Junior Jerry Meyer (5-9) and sophomore Mike Koory (6-1) other starters.

Varied schedule included several wins over Class B clubs . . . Johawks made it all the way this year after losing to Waverly in playoff in 19-5 season last year.

WAUSA (19-1)

Only loss on Vikings' ledger was to Class B Bloomfield . . . Niel Edmunds' team still young and could return again next year.

Only senior is 6-7½ Dennis Larson, averaging 21 points and 16 rebounds a game . . . His play has made the difference in close games.

Best of a fine junior crop is 6-3½ Brian Buhrman . . . His 19-point scoring and strong rebounding gives Corntassel Conference entry a potent 1-2 punch . . . Gary Seagren (6-2) adds height . . . Roland Johnson (5-10) good outside performer.

CRAWFORD (22-2)

Only setbacks were at hands of Class B teams Bridgeport and Gordon . . . Coach John Mundell has well balanced team with seven lettermen back from last year's 16-6 club.

Rams lack height . . . Bob Waite, 6-2 senior, and Steve Hawk, 6-2 junior, are biggest players . . . Only other six footer is senior Rex Mahlman.

Floor general is 5-7 senior Al Henkel . . . Other veterans are Jordie Ball (5-11), Butch Hanlon (5-10), and Harold Jacobs (5-7). Rams whipped Class B Valentine for Rangeland title.

The Mexican poppies are tranquilized by music—even as you and I. I think they are doing better than the marigolds who are getting nothing but an occasional peek at "Peyton Place" on television. (They can see it through the window if we haven't pulled the drapes.)

This is the age of tranquilizers. For flowers and you and me. At one time we swung on the front porch. Or went down to the corner for a beer for tranquility.

Now we are full of Equanil. Thorzine and Atarax and Serapil. Frequel and Miltown tranquilizers.

People with brand names like to have it all spelled out. And I always forget how this attorney wants it spelled out—with "tranquilizers" after the word "Miltown."

He wrote me a letter about it, but I have lost his address. When this comes to his attention, he will know I am trying. Meantime, I imagine, he is on Miltowns — tranquilizers, that is.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Americans drank more, smoked more and bet more in the past year than ever before in the Nation's history."

This was reported by a tax reporting firm.

The way they found out how much we are smoking and belting squareface gin and rolling for eight-the-hard-way, was by looking at taxes on these items. (These are tranquilizers, too.)

Soothsayers and psychologists, the government and magazines are alarmed about it. They offer advice in the public prints:

"Ten Ways to Relax!" "Beat Your Wife!" "Talk Back to the Boss!"

☆ ☆ ☆

I soothe my flowers by music. In turn am soothed by my own tunes.

"Nobody rambled like my ramblin' rose . . ."

"What'll we do on Saturday night, when the whole town goes dry . . ."

The Mexican poppies relax and enjoy themselves in the sun. Mexican poppies may have a little marijuana in them. Illegally tranquilized by nature.

Taxes are up. The government and taxpayer are tense as fiddle strings. The government with a thumb in the dike. The taxpayer looking for loopholes.

tate Atty. Gen. Clarence yer, in a letter disclosed nday, said there is some estion of his authority to in-tigate the activities of the braska Electric Generation l Transmission Cooperative & T).

The letter added that the partment of Justice would "in any event" undertake investigation except by di-tion of the State Power view Board or the Legisla-e.

The letter to Sen. Kenneth wen of Red Cloud, speaker the Legislature, continued: 'If this office should now ter the public power picture th the type of legal activity ntemplated by the Loup ter, it would only serve to nerate additional conflict d would interfere with at ast some of the functions d prerogatives of the Power view Board.

'If the board should deter-ne that some useful objective would be served by pursuing some or all of the matters suggested in the Loup letter, we would, of course, cooperate with the board to the fullest extent."

Meyer noted that the statutes require his office to conduct investigations at the direction of the Legislature, but added: "You may want to handle the matters outlined in the Loup letter by legislation rather than by additional litigation."

He said the letter asking an investigation would be made available to other senators and committees on request. Letters from other districts interested in the allegations by Loup would also be available, Meyer added.

Last week, the Loup River Public Power District requested Meyer's office to investigate G & T. Loup alleged that G & T has overstepped the purposes for which it was organized under Nebraska law.

Out on the porch this sunny a.m. to see how the Mexican poppies are doing in their box. (I nearly got away to Mexico over the weekend but was weathered out. Trying for next weekend.)

Steels Rally Helps Mixed Stock Market

The steels came to life following news that weekly steel production had topped the record made two weeks ago. As on that occasion, steel stocks advanced on the news.

It was very much of a "two-way" market, however. Each of the five leading auto stocks took fractional losses. International nibs continued backward in view of the takeover of some U.S. oil properties in Syria.

The session was marked, as some were last week, by prominence of lower-priced issues. Seven of the 15 most active stocks sold at $17 a share or less.

Of 1,382 issues traded, 626 rose and 466 fell. New highs for 1964-65 totaled 76 and new lows five.

Volume was 5.27 million shares, quite a falloff from Friday's 6.15 million, but still rated as active.

Among the 15 most active stocks, gainers and losers were even at six-all, with three unchanged.

The continued prominence of the low-priced issues failed to perturb most market analysts, most of them stating that the market still failed to show "excessive."

The heavy trading in lower-priced issues, however, was a comparatively recent development in the latest market phase and reflected livelier public participation.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 2.35 million shares compared with 2.38 million Friday.

Steels Rally Helps Mixed Stock Market

The steels came to life following news that weekly steel production had topped the record made two weeks ago. As on that occasion, steel stocks advanced on the news.

It was very much of a "two-way" market, however. Each of the five leading auto stocks took fractional losses. International oils continued backward in view of the takeover of some U.S. oil properties in Syria.

On the other hand, some copper stocks advanced on news of strength in copper commodity futures. Gold mining shares were up reflecting continued strength of the price of gold in the world market.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose .86 to 896.84.

The session was marked, as some were last week, by prominence of lower-priced issues. Seven of the 15 most active stocks sold at $17 a share or less.

Of 1,362 issue traded, 626 rose and 466 fell. New highs for 1964-65 totaled 76 and new lows five.

Volume was 5.27 million shares, quite a fall-off from Friday's 6.15 million, but still rated as active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .4 to 335.5 with industrials up .1, rails up 1.4 and utilities off .4.

Among the 15 most active stocks, gainers and losers were even at six-all, with three unchanged.

The continued prominence of the low-priced issues failed to perturb most market analysts, most of them stating that the market still failed to show "excesses."

The heavy trading in lower-priced issues, however, was a comparatively recent development in the latest market phase and reflected livelier public participation.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 2.25 million shares compared with 2.53 million Friday.

$400 Salary For Police, Firemen Is Advanced

Cities with a population of more than 10,000 will be required to pay their firemen and policemen a minimum of $400 per month under a bill given first round approval on the floor of the Nebraska Legislature Monday.

As introduced, LB137 would have applied the minimum to all cities of the first class and larger—in effect, those of 5,000 population and over.

An amendment offered by Sen. Calista Cooper Hughes of Humboldt, approved on a voice vote, made the minimum applicable only to cities over 10,000.

Cities in the 10,000-up class, according to the 1960 census, are Beatrice, Columbus, Fremont, Grand Island, Hastings, Kearney, Lincoln, Norfolk, Omaha and Scottsbluff.

Rejected 12-26 was an amendment by Sen. Ira Paine of Grand Island to set the minimum at $375 instead of $400.

Paine said he regarded the $400 minimum as an imposition on smaller cities. He said it would force smaller cities to increase mill levies which already are higher in cases than the Omaha and Lincoln levies.

LB137 was introduced by Sens. Eugene Mahoney and William F. Skarda Jr. of Omaha and Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, all of whom made floor speeches in support of it.

Sen. Carpenter said Scottsbluff now pays beginning firemen $304 per month and said there has been no opposition to the $400 minimum from those who pay the taxes. Instead, he said, he has received many expressions of support for it.

"Somewhere along the line we ought to listen to the multitudes," he said.

Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion noted that city representatives who testified against the bill in public hearing were persons drawing $12,000 to $15,000 per year.

Sen. Henry F. Peders Jr. of Omaha said his young son wants to be a fireman and "I don't want to have to tell him he can't be a fireman because of the disturbingly low salaries paid."

But Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha said the Legislature is "exceeding all bound of propriety" by imposing its will on the cities.

"Who is better informed on the worth of these people?" Craft asked.

BURGLARS GET $6,100 WORTH OF ANTIQUES

Approximately $6,100 worth of antiques were taken from the home of Mrs. Archie Furr 1737 B, police said.

Bill To Help Museum Job Is Advanced

Advanced from general file on a 40-0 vote was Grand Island Sen. Ira Paine's LB327, which allows museum boards to issue revenue bonds and use gifts, admission charges and other non-tax revenues to retire such bonds. It also allows an increase in the size of such museum boards, presently set at five members, to as many as nine members.

Distributed to senators were brochures telling about the Stuhr Museum, a layout east of Grand Island depicting central Nebraska's pioneer heritage.

LB138 increases the election commissioner's salary from $5,200 to $7,500 per year, and LB140 increases the salary of the jury commissioner from $1,800 to $3,000 per year. The effect is to place the combined salary paid the election commissioner at $10,500 per year.

Advanced from general file also was LB469, a bill by Waverly Sen. Jerome Warner, clarifying that school buses may be used to transport children to and from all school related activities.

Historical Sites Battle Compromise Proposed

State Sen. Ross Rasmussen Monday proposed a compromise in the jurisdictional battle between the State Game Commission and the State Historical Society.

The Hooper lawmaker suggested that the two agencies be given equal voice in determining locations of historical parks and in other historical matters. If they fail to agree, the governor would be assigned the task of ironing out differences.

Rasmussen said his proposal hopefully would result in complete cooperation between the two agencies because neither would want to be subjected to the "wrath of the governor."

"I would hope a dispute would never have to be carried to the governor," Rasmussen said. "I think my proposal would force the two agencies to cooperate fully as partners. This is not the case now."

Rasmussen is chief sponsor of a bill, LB631, which provides that the Historical Society alone shall determine the location of historical parks and otherwise defines the society's relationship with the Game Commission.

The bill was a bone of contention among Game Commission personnel and Historical Society officials at a public hearing before the Agriculture Committee Friday. The committee took no action.

Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora, committee chairman, said the committee "appears split down the middle" in the dispute. However, Sen. Kremer said he "leans" toward the Game Commission but thinks LB631 should be amended to provide that the Game Commission must confer with the Historical Society in historical matters.

State Game Commission officials, led by Commission Director Mel Steen, urged the committee to kill LB631, arguing that the two agencies should be permitted to cooperate on a voluntary basis.

Sen. Rasmussen doubts whether voluntary cooperation is possible in light of the heated dispute.

Sen. Kremer said the committee will consider LB631 Thursday.

Unicam Decides Against License Sale Date Shift

License plates will go on sale Jan. 1 as usual next year, under a decision made by the Nebraska Legislature Monday.

Earlier action to change the re-licensing date next year to April 1 so as to give the Nebraska Penal Complex more time to manufacture the new plates was reversed on the motion of Sen. Fern Orme of Lincoln.

Tax collection complications would have resulted from the change, it was said.

The action was taken on LB645, which calls for new plates carrying the word "Centennial" to be issued next year. The plates would be expected to last three years, with tabs used for renewals in 1967 and 1968.

Bircher Welch Claims Rights Movement A Red 'Blueprint'

Los Angeles (AP)—Robert Welch said Monday the "entire civil rights movement is part of a Communist blueprint to establish a "Negro Soviet republic in the southeastern United States."

The founder of the John Birch Society, here for three speeches he said would raise about $10,000 for the organization, also told a news conference:

The blueprint was laid out in 1929 by Communists who said then that "Negroes in the South are to be considered exactly as if they were a colony of suppressed natives," and—

'Phony Issues'

The object is to "stir up trouble and demand an independent Negro republic . . . and then advance the Communist cause."

Claims of Negro oppression are "phony issues" and only a very small minority of Negroes in the South are denied their voting rights because they are Negroes, Welch said.

"I wouldn't say that there are no places where Negroes are handicapped in voting, but where they are it is minor," he said.

Repeating his claim, made in a recent pamphlet, that Dr. Martin Luther King is a "hypocritical troublemaker . . . who has been trained by the Communists," Welch said in answer to questions:

Support Communists

"I doubt that King is a Communist. But I have no way of knowing. He is doing things that support the Communist cause."

Welch said he doesn't know whether the Nobel Peace Prize winner is the real leader of the civil rights movement.

"What they (the Communists) want is the trouble created by it," he said. "And King is deluding the Negroes into thinking they are mistreated more than they are."

He said there is a Communist-conceived plan to drive a wedge between Americans and assist a Red takeover of the United States.

Rhodes Files $200 Million Damage Suit

Omaha (AP)—Former Bridgeport attorney Paul Rhodes of Elwood, Kan., has filed suit in Federal District Court asking $200 million damages from 22 individuals and corporations.

The action stems from a second degree arson charge filed against Rhodes in 1959 in connection with a fire at a drug store he owned in Bridgeport, and which was dismissed in March, 1964. Rhodes contends in his petition he has suffered great financial loss and will continue to suffer loss and has been disbarred from the practice of law.

The petition asks $50 million actual damages, $50 million punitive damages plus costs.

Want To Buy Missile Site? 12 For Sale

Each is 175 feet deep with a launching control center 33 feet deep. Each is supplied with air conditioning, heat, water supply, electrical distribution and waste disposal systems.

Bids will be opened April 5.

Beer And Liquor Taxes, Fees Rise During February

Beer and liquor taxes and fees brought in $517,205 in Nebraska last month, some $90,000 more than the $425,279 realized in the same month last year, Chairman Ray Osborn of the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission reported Monday.

For the first two months of this year, revenue has totaled $854,870, compared with $716,844 in the same period last year.

Veterans 'Can't Understand' Hospital Action, Editor Says

"The veteran cannot understand it nor can he in his mind justify it," said Leonard Owen, editor of the VFW News, in an editorial about the closing of the Lincoln Veterans Administration Hospital.

"It doesn't make sense economically or humanely," said Owen. "There will be great hardships to those who have to travel greater distances from their home in order to receive the proper medical attention to which they are entitled."

The Lincoln VA Hospital, according to Owen, has spent approximately one million dollars to equip and update its facility and is "engaged in a training program whereby young doctors get further training and also give the Veterans Administration some of the latest medical techniques that assist in a more speedy recovery for the patient."

"This seems so asinine," said Owen, "for the President and the Bureau of the Budget to close VA facilities, for the saving of approximately $23 million at the expense of the deserving veteran and on the other hand pour billions of dollars to foreign countries that most of us have never heard of prior to the granting of aid from our Great Society."

"We as veterans must arouse the American people just as we did in the early thirties when we beat down the forces that would have robbed the World War I Veterans of the bonus that he had earned. Once that we have aroused the American people to the choice . . . they will let the White House know in terms that cannot be mistaken what their feelings are in this matter," said Owen.

$400 Salary For Police, Firemen Is Advanced

Cities with a population of more than 10,000 will be required to pay their firemen and policemen a minimum of $400 per month under a bill given first round approval on the floor of the Nebraska Legislature Monday.

As introduced, LB137 would have applied the minimum to all cities of the first class and larger—in effect, those of 5,000 population and over.

An amendment offered by Sen. Calista Cooper Hughes of Humboldt, approved on a voice vote, made the minimum applicable only to cities over 10,000.

Cities in the 10,000-up class, according to the 1960 census, are Beatrice, Columbus, Fremont, Grand Island, Hastings, Kearney, Lincoln, Norfolk, Omaha and Scottsbluff.

Rejected 12-26 was an amendment by Sen. Ira Paine of Grand Island to set the minimum at $375 instead of $400.

Paine said he regarded the $400 minimum as an imposition on smaller cities. He said it would force smaller cities to increase mill levies which already are higher in cases than the Omaha and Lincoln levies.

LB137 was introduced by Sens. Eugene Mahoney and William F. Skarda Jr. of Omaha and Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, all of whom made floor speeches in support of it.

Sen. Carpenter said Scottsbluff now pays beginning firemen $304 per month and said there has been no opposition to the $400 minimum from those who pay the taxes. Instead, he said, he has received many expressions of support for it.

"Somewhere along the line we ought to listen to the multitudes," he said.

Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion noted that city representatives who testified against the bill in public hearing were persons drawing $12,000 to $15,000 per year.

Sen. Henry F. Peders Jr. of Omaha said his young son wants to be a fireman and "I don't want to have to tell him he can't be a fireman because of the disturbingly low salaries paid."

But Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha said the Legislature is "exceeding all bound of propriety" by imposing its will on the cities.

And Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte termed the bill "an infringement on the prerogatives of the mayors and city councils of these cities."

"Who is better informed on the worth of these people?" Craft asked.

BURGLARS GET $6,100 WORTH OF ANTIQUES

Approximately $6,100 worth of antiques were taken from the home of Mrs. Archie Furr 1737 B, police said.

Burglars apparently entered the home sometime in February while Mrs. Furr was a patient in a hospital, according to police.

Antique furniture, silverware, and pottery were among the items taken.

Bill To Help Museum Job Is Advanced

Advanced from general file on a 40-0 vote was Grand Island Sen. Ira Paine's LB327, which allows museum boards to issue revenue bonds and use gifts, admission charges and other non-tax revenues to retire such bonds. It also allows an increase in the size of such museum boards, presently set at five members, to as many as nine members.

Distributed to senators were brochures telling about the Stuhr Museum, a layout east of Grand Island depicting central Nebraska's pioneer heritage.

LB138 increases the election commissioner's salary from $5,200 to $7,500 per year, and LB140 increases the salary of the jury commissioner from $1,800 to $3,000 per year. The effect is to place the combined salary paid the election commissioner at $10,500 per year.

Advanced from general file also was LB469, a bill by Waverly Sen. Jerome Warner, clarifying that school buses may be used to transport children to and from all school related activities.

Philip Pays Tribute

Historical Sites Battle Compromise Proposed

State Sen. Ross Rasmussen Monday proposed a compromise in the jurisdictional battle between the State Game Commission and the State Historical Society.

The Hooper lawmaker suggested that the two agencies be given equal voice in determining locations of historical parks and in other historical matters. If they fail to agree, the governor would be assigned the task of ironing out differences.

Rasmussen said his proposal hopefully would result in complete cooperation between the two agencies because neither would want to be subjected to the "wrath of the governor."

"I would hope a dispute would never have to be carried to the governor," Rasmussen said. "I think my proposal would force the two agencies to cooperate fully as partners. This is not the case now."

Rasmussen is chief sponsor of a bill, LB631, which provides that the Historical Society alone shall determine the location of historical parks and otherwise defines the society's relationship with the Game Commission.

The bill was a bone of contention among Game Commission personnel and Historical Society officials at a public hearing before the Agriculture Committee Friday. The committee took no action.

Sen. Maurice Kremer of Aurora, committee chairman, said the committee "appears split down the middle" in the dispute. However, Sen. Kremer said he "leans" toward the Game Commission but thinks LB631 should be amended to provide that the Game Commission must confer with the Historical Society in historical matters.

State Game Commission officials, led by Commission Director Mel Steen, urged the committee to kill LB631, arguing that the two agencies should be permitted to cooperate on a voluntary basis.

Sen. Rasmussen doubts whether voluntary cooperation is possible in light of the heated dispute.

Sen. Kremer said the committee will consider LB631 Thursday.

Unicam Decides Against License Sale Date Shift

License plates will go on sale Jan. 1 as usual next year, under a decision made by the Nebraska Legislature Monday.

Earlier action to change the re-licensing date next year to April 1 so as to give the Nebraska Penal Complex more time to manufacture the new plates was reversed on the motion of Sen. Fern Orme of Lincoln.

Tax collection complications would have resulted from the change, it was said.

The action was taken on LB645, which calls for new plates carrying the word "Centennial" to be issued next year. The plates would be expected to last three years, with tabs used for renewals in 1967 and 1968.

Interest Rate Bill Is Killed

A bill which would have permitted banks to charge any rate of interest now or hereafter allowed to other lending institutions was killed Monday by the Legislature's Banking Committee.

The measure, LB783, introduced by Sens. John Knight of Lincoln and W. H. Hasebroock of West Point, had been given hearing earlier.

Three other previously-heard bills were amended and sent to the unicameral floor. They included:

LB743—requiring certain insurers to transmit information to stockholders regarding proxies and to file information with the insurance director, while authorizing the director to adopt rules.

Two bills given hearing Monday were held for later action.

They included LB414, chiefly introduced by Sen. Peter H. Claussen of Leigh, which re-enacts the general credit unit law now on the books.

Because Supreme Court rulings prior to voter adoption last fall of the special interest law constitutional amendment had clouded the constitutionality of virtually all of the state's interest laws, lending interests have sought reenactment of the laws at the present session to insure against further challenge.

Also held was LB416, making debt adjustment for a fee unlawful.

Retardation Test Urged For Babies

The Legislature's Public Health Committee agreed Monday that it should be public policy to give all infants a test to guard against mental retardation.

The committee directed its chairman, Lincoln Sen. Marvin E. Stromer, to either draw up a new bill or a resolution to that effect.

The committee heard testimony on a bill, LB615, introduced chiefly by Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, which would have required that the infant tests be made. The committee held the bill pending further action.

Strong Objections

Representatives of the State Medical Association and the State Pediatrics Society objected strongly to the mandatory provision in LB615, arguing that 95% of the babies are given such tests without a state law.

The tests would determine any errors in metabolism, such as phenylkentonuria (PKU) or galactosemia, which cause mental retardation.

The committee killed previously heard LB122, introduced chiefly by Alliance Sen. George Gerdes, which provided for the collection of costs of keeping children at the boys' and girls' training schools and the home for children

Unconstitutional

The attorney general's office said sections of the bill were unconstitutional.

The committee advanced LB363, introduced by Stromer, which would call for adopting of the uniform reciprocal enforcement of support act. There was no opposition to the measure at a public hearing.

Interest Rate Bill Is Killed

A bill which would have permitted banks to charge any rate of interest now or hereafter allowed to other lending institutions was killed Monday by the Legislature's Banking Committee.

The measure, LB783, introduced by Sens. John Knight of Lincoln and W. H. Hasebroock of West Point, had been given hearing earlier.

Three other previously-heard bills were amended and sent to the unicameral floor. They included:

LB742—providing for special meetings of certain insurance company stockholders, and revising provisions for annual meeting.

LB743—requiring certain insurers to transmit information to stockholders regarding proxies and to file information with the insurance director, while authorizing the director to adopt rules.

Two bills given hearing Monday were held for later action.

They included LB414, chiefly introduced by Sen. Peter H. Claussen of Leigh, which re-enacts the general credit unit law now on the books.

Because Supreme Court rulings prior to voter adoption last fall of the special interest law constitutional amendment had clouded the constitutionality of virtually all of the state's interest laws, lending interests have sought reenactment of the laws at the present session to insure against further challenge.

Retardation Test Urged For Babies

The Legislature's Public Health Committee agreed Monday that it should be public policy to give all infants a test to guard against mental retardation.

The committee directed its chairman, Lincoln Sen. Marvin E. Stromer, to either draw up a new bill or a resolution to that effect.

The committee heard testimony on a bill, LB615, introduced chiefly by Sen. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, which would have required that the infant tests be made. The committee held the bill pending further action.

Strong Objections

Representatives of the State Medical Association and the State Pediatrics Society objected strongly to the mandatory provision in LB615, arguing that 95% of the babies are given such tests without a state law.

The tests would determine any errors in metabolism, such as phenylkentonuria (PKU) or galactosemia, which cause mental retardation.

Unconstitutional

The attorney general's office said sections of the bill were unconstitutional.

The committee advanced LB363, introduced by Stromer, which would call for adopting of the uniform reciprocal enforcement of support act. There was no opposition to the measure at a public hearing.
